Consolidation Working Well in 16 Districts

Sixteen school districts in New York State which operate under consolidation have found it successful, Francis Griffin, chief of the Bureau of Administrative Services, State Education Department, told a public forum at Kingston High School on Thursday evening.

The forum was the first of three scheduled by the Board of Education to present various phases of the program relative to participation by the City of Kingston.

A rural vote March 5 favored the proposed Greater Kingston Area School Consolidation plan by three to one.

Miles Appointed Fire Captain in Hallinans' Place

Joseph J. Miles, 51, of 36 Andrew Street, was named a fire department captain on a provisional basis by the Board of Fire Commissioners last night to succeed Joseph M. Hallinan, who died March 8.

A fireman since Dec. 30, 1941, Capt. Miles has been on duty at the Cornell Station for 11 years. A veteran of World War 2, he served in the U. S. Navy as a fire fighter. He went into the service on April 4, 1944 and returned to duty Aug. 16, 1945.

Starts March 16
Capt. Miles, who is president of the Unifired Firemen's Association, Local 461, is due to begin his duties as captain on March 16. A graduate of School No. 6 he attended Kingston High School and Moran's Business School.

A civil service examination will be necessary to establish the appointment on a permanent basis.

The fire department has an eligibility list of five names for appointment of firemen, but the list for further promotions to the posts of captain or deputy chief have been exhausted.

Monaco Goes Wild With Word of Son To Princess Grace

MONTE CARLO — Princess Grace of Monaco today gave birth to a baby boy, the new heir to the throne of this Mediterranean principality.

The former Hollywood movie queen's first son — Prince Albert Alexandre Louis Pierre — displaces his 13-month-old sister, Princess Caroline in the line of succession to rule over 3,000 subjects and 20,000 inhabitants.

The palace said the baby was healthy, the birth normal and that both the mother and 8½-pound child are doing fine.

Church Bells Ring
The first word of the birth came from several young laundresses who appeared at a palace window. One of them shouted: "The baby is born. It is a prince."

All the bells in Monaco's eight churches began ringing as soon as Father Francis Tucker, the (Continued on Page 6, Col. 7)

Jan. 5 Is Proposed For Parley Radel Would Meet At Senate House

Mayor Edwin F. Radel by letter today sought Gov. Harriman's support of the proposal that the Hudson-Champlain Celebration start here early next year.

"I visualize," said the mayor, "that a true, fitting and proper ceremony to start our year-long pageantry would be a meeting of the legislative representatives for the 12 original counties of New York State to convene at our historic Senate House, where once the laws of the land were formulated."

Proposes Jan. 5
The mayor proposed Jan. 5 as the date, but said, if it conflicts in any way "with other preliminaries pertinent to the legislative schedule, we would be very pleased to accept any convenient date you may suggest, with the possibility of holding it between January 1 and 5."

"It would be fitting," the mayor wrote, "for your excellency to preside over the meeting of the Legislature, and reenact the chain of events just as it must have taken place years ago, and then adjourn the meeting to the regular session of the Legislature, which meets in Albany on the following day."

Notes Other Requests
The mayor noted that preliminary requests "have been made through the Ulster County Chairman" to Carl Carmer, state chairman, in behalf of holding the kick-off program in Kingston, "the first capital of New York State."

The mayor also wrote: "The local Hudson-Champlain Committee, the City of Kingston, its people and I as their mayor would feel greatly privileged and delighted to have the honor of your presence to participate in this event. I hereby make a formal request to you to give sincere consideration and lend the powers of your office to designating the City of Kingston as the point of origin of the Hudson-Champlain Celebration."

"I most sincerely further request that we in the City of Kingston be graced by your presence and your participation in the proposed ceremonies. I hope that you agree that ours is the ideal condition for the start of this historic event and that you will inform me of your answer in the affirmative."

$750 Bonuses Due
ROCHESTER — Workers at the Eastman Kodak Co. will receive an average bonus of about $750 next Tuesday.

The company said today the wage dividend totals $37,900,000 for the 50,000 employees in the United States. The payment, based on common stock dividends and yearly income, is the largest since the plan was started in 1912.

Each employee will be paid $32 for each thousand dollars he earned during the past five years.

Notes Expansion
The Rev. Virgil R. Brisco, pastor, said today that the church is expanding beyond its present facilities at the corner of Franklin and Pine Streets. If the new building is not erected in the next two years it would be necessary to hold two services of worship on Sunday to accommodate the growing congregation, he said.

Miller's Lane Is To Be Site of Alliance Church

Construction of a unit-type church building is expected to start in 1959 on lots at 98 Miller's Lane purchased this week for a sum reported to exceed $5,000 by the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church from Mrs. Emma Short.

The approximately two acres of land, offering a 125 foot frontage on Miller's Lane, will be used for the construction of a building designed to house education department and social rooms in addition to the sanctuary. Off-the-street parking is planned also.

Anjopa Ordered Not to Operate

Anjopa Paper Manufacturing Company, Inc., Napanoch, has been ordered by Supreme Court Justice Donald S. Taylor to "cease and desist" from using or operating its plant because of continued pollution of the Rondout Creek waters below the plant.

Last August 23, Anjopa was served with a summons and complaint in an action charging pollution of the creek. John A. Bonomi appeared as counsel but failed to file an answer.

Failing to comply with an order of the New York Water Pollution Control Board to eliminate the condition, State Health Commissioner Herman E. Hilleboe, commissioner of the department of agriculture and markets, Daniel J. Carey, conservation commissioner Sharon J. Mauhs, commissioner of Department of Commerce Edward T. Dickinson, and John W. Johnson, superintendent of the Department of Public Works, who made up the Water Pollution Board moved in special term in Rensselaer County for an order of the court closing the plant unless pollution was stopped.

Justice Taylor has permanently enjoined the company from operating until the condition is remedied.

Anjopa is in financial difficulties and has not been operating for some time. Reorganization is being attempted.

Motion Tabled On 5-Day Agenda For Supervisors

A proposal from Supervisor James F. Howard (D) of the 10th ward that an agenda for board meetings be prepared five days prior to meeting night, was tabled by the board of supervisors Thursday evening for further study.

The vote was along party lines with 17 voting to table the matter and 14 Democrats voting against the motion of Supervisor Martin (R) to table.

Meetings Start Late
Meetings have been late in starting because of long pre-session caucuses and Democratic members have long protested that they have not been informed of important matters until minutes before the session at which they are called upon to vote. This prevented "intelligent" consideration of these matters, it has been charged.

Recently, to avoid these pre-session delays, both parties have caucused at the same time with Clerk Robert A. Snyder presenting the agenda to one party and Deputy Clerk Raymond Howe presenting the agenda to the other party at separate caucuses. However, it is charged the minority party members do not have sufficient time to give serious consideration to important matters being presented at the session.

Ulster Board Will Choose Supervisor Saturday at 2

A special meeting of the town board of the Town of Ulster has been called by Town Clerk Laura K. Every for Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock for the purpose of naming a successor to Supervisor Robert F. Pardee, (R), who recently resigned due to ill health.

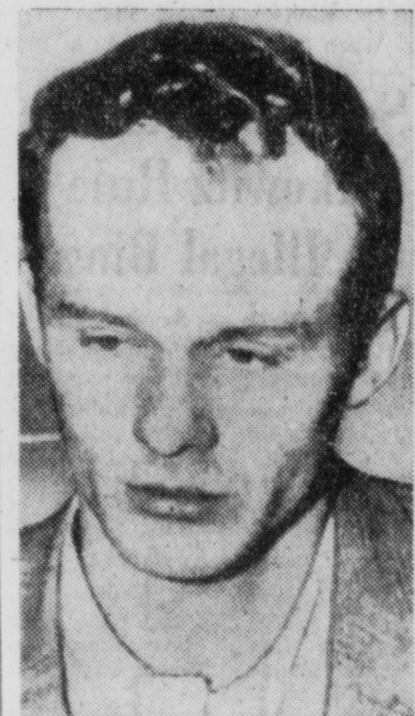

The special meeting will be held at Lake Katrine Grange hall, Lake Katrine.

Thus far two names have been prominently mentioned, that of former Supervisor Percy Bush who was succeeded on January first, last, by Pardee and that of Edward F. Dingeldey, who has the unanimous backing of the Republican committeemen of the town.

Dingeldey is president of the Chambers School board; active in Ulster Hose Company, No. 5, in the Town of Ulster Water District and also in Cerebral Palsy work in the county.

The town board, entirely Republican, is composed of Justices of the Peace Millard Davis, Arthur A. Reilly and Councilmen Edgar Elliott and Elizabeth Acker.

While the names of Bush and Dingeldey have been prominently mentioned, it is also reported a third name may be presented should a deadlock result in the board. That name, mentioned in political circles Thursday was A. J. Banyo, Albany Avenue insurance agent, who may become a "dark horse" in the race.

5 Supervisors to Look Into Esopus Flooding

A committee of five was named Thursday by Charles Relyea, Republican chairman of the board of supervisors, to meet with the New York State Flood Control Commission to discuss state assistance in flood control along the upper and lower Esopus creek.

Named to the committee from the board of supervisors are W. Morton Bertrand (R) of Shandaken, Lester S. Davis (R) of Olive, James E. Martin (R) of the 12th ward, George Mollenhauer (D) of Rosendale and Edwin Chase (R) of Wawarsing.

Called Big Job
Appointment of the committee came after Supervisor Martin had presented resolutions calling attention to the need for flood control work on the stream and suggesting that state assistance be sought because of the "magnitude" of the work which could not be borne by the local municipalities.

One resolution relating to the upper valley of the Esopus, called attention to the flooding conditions along that stream and its tributaries which cause erosion and damage to private and public property, including town, county and state highways which are traveled not only by local people but from adjoining states.

Text of Resolution
The resolution states: "Whereas, the solution to this problem requires work of such magnitude that the local municipality should not be called upon to bear the entire expense of the corrective measures which should be taken" and he moved for appointment of a five man committee to study the problem and apply for state assistance.

Elks Favor Local Man to Replace Chief Van Buren

Members of Kingston Lodge 550, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks last night reportedly passed a resolution urging the Board of Police Commissioners to name "a qualified member of the police department or a local resident" as successor to Chief Raymond Van Buren, it was learned today.

Officials of the lodge were not immediately available for comment, but The Freeman learned that a copy of the resolution will be forwarded to Mayor Edwin F. Radel and the police board.

Chief Van Buren submitted his resignation as chief to the mayor and the police board last Friday. The resignation is effective May 31—or at an earlier date if he chooses.

Cites Radel Statement
The chief indicated in his letter of resignation that the effective date would enable the police board "to select a successor for my position as police chief and permit me to complete my personal affairs relative to pension, social security and veteran's benefits."

The resolution adopted by the Elks, it was learned, urged the police board to select "a qualified member of the department or a local resident" as a successor to Chief Van Buren and cited statements made by Mayor Radel when he served as third ward alderman and since his tenure as mayor.

Myers Is For Action By Board

Notes Wilson Bid For New PO Here

Two suggestions for relief of the congested condition of county offices were made to the board of supervisors Thursday evening.

One was that records be micro-filmed to save space and that the Central Post Office building on Broadway at Pine Grove Avenue be considered for county office purposes in the event Kingston is granted funds for a new post office building.

Notes Action for New P. O.
Recently Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson took steps to ask that Federal funds be made available for a new post office building in Kingston to replace the present inadequate building on central Broadway.

Herbert C. Myers, president of the Central Business Men's Association, has petitioned the board of supervisors to look into the possibility of acquiring the Central Post Office building for county office use, should the city be granted a new building.

Urges Bid for Building
In a communication to the board of supervisors Myers stated that present county offices were overcrowded and there was a possibility that should Kingston get a new post office, the Broadway building could be acquired at a "nominal sum" by the county and devoted to county office use.

The suggestion has been referred to the County Office Building committee.

In addition to use for post office facilities, the Central post office building is used by numerous federal offices.

Larger Site Needed
Several years ago an addition to the original building was erected and presently the existing lot is fully occupied by the building. There is no additional space at that site to erect any additional facilities for the post office.

In recent years business at the office has increased to such an extent that present facilities are considered inadequate and Wilson suggested the Federal government be asked to give Kingston adequate facilities. Erection of a new post office building would give considerable work to numerous trades which may be faced with lack of work should present trends continue, Wilson cited.

The suggestion from Supervisor James T. McCordle (D), of the ninth ward that micro-film be employed to relieve congested space brought forth challenges that this would not replace the need for a new county building.

Must Keep Originals
It was pointed out that "original documents" still must be retained and stored. McCordle replied that these documents could be stored in some fire-proof space where they would be available but the micro-film record would be available in an easily reached place for use by attorneys and others who did not need the original documents in the routine course of their work.

The originals, could be made available at a less accessible place. McCordle produced several micro-film records and rolls of film indicating the small space required. He stated the film record could be "blown-up" by machine to legible size. He asked that the chairman name a bi-partisan committee to make a study of his proposal.

In presenting his suggestion he said it was in answer to a "challenge" from Supervisor Martin (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Rosendale Votes On Bingo, Trustee Tuesday 5 to 9

A village election is scheduled in Rosendale Tuesday to vote on one trustee and bingo.

Polls will be open from 5 to 9 p. m. in the village room in Firemen's Hall, Main Street.

According to the village clerk, Mrs. Charles George, there are two candidates for trustee—John Boyle, a Democrat, and Harold Schoonmaker running on the Independent ticket.

The office is for a two-year term.

The proposition on bingo will decide whether or not to legalize the game in the village.

Some Areas May Get 10-Inch Snow From Late Storm

ALBANY — A week of nearly springlike weather in New York State ended abruptly today in a late-winter storm bearing up to 10 inches of wet, heavy snow for some sections.

The snowfall grounded airplanes in the southeastern sections. Highway traffic slowed noticeably.

Moving Out Tonight
The weather bureau said the storm would move out off the northeastern coast by evening, leaving only flurries behind.

The storm area was through the Southern Tier and eastern sections of the state, including Long Island. Most other areas had only a trace of snow. Intermittent light snow was forecast for Western New York.

Temperatures, generally around the freezing mark, were expected to drop slightly tonight.

The storm originated yesterday off the Carolina coast and picked up strength as it moved northward during the night.

Olean, in the Southern Tier, and Tannersville, in the Catskills, had five-inch snowfalls by early morning.

Four inches fell at Stewart Air Force Base near Newburgh, and three inches in New York City.

4 Inches in Ellenville
Ellenville reported four inches, Poughkeepsie 3 and Elmira, Binghamton and Albany one inch.

The storm was reminiscent of one that struck the state two years ago today. On March 14, 1956, 6½ inches fell on Albany, followed by 13.4 inches on the 16th and 2½ inches the next day.

Decisive Battle
The 1777 campaign of the British to split the Colonies by a three-way drive on Albany was defeated at Saratoga in one of the world's decisive battles.

50 Let Off From School Bus Before Plunge Over Bank

REEDSPORT, Ore. (AP)—A school bus, which only a short time before had been loaded with some 50 grade school pupils, plunged over a high bank into a field near here yesterday.

The bus driver, Harold Andrews, 55 — the only occupant — was dead inside. He apparently suffered a fatal heart seizure, said Deputy Coroner Jack Ungar.

First reports, relayed here by radio, that the bus had plunged into nearby Smith River, sent a wave of panic through this southern Oregon coastal town. It was feared that the children might still have been aboard.

Police cars, ambulances and tow trucks were rushed to the scene, some 22 miles northwest of here.

The children had been let off earlier, however, and Andrews was en route to pick up another load when he was stricken.

Glass Works Begins Pyroceram Output

CORNING (AP)—Corning Glass Works has started commercial production of a super-hard material called pyroceram which can be made into products ranging from ovenware to supersonic aircraft parts.

Designed to withstand intense heat, pyroceram has been tested recently for use as a guided missile nose cone.

Other suggested uses include piston heads, exhaust valves, ball bearings, pump parts, jig fixtures for high temperature brazing, compressor blades and radar antenna housings.

Pyroceram is a ceramic material made from glass. It is said to be lighter than aluminum and harder than high-carbon steel. It was invented by Dr. S. Donald Stookey, head of Corning's chemical research department.

Quads Expected, Husband Forsees Event Challenging

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Dr. H. Dean Hoskins said today news his wife is expecting quadruplets is "the most challenging and intriguing event in our lives."

"We were both delighted and surprised. Our three daughters, 6, 12 and 14 years old, are pretty excited, too."

"They haven't a preference for brothers and sisters," he said. "They'll take whatever they get."

Mrs. Dorothy Hoskins, 36, was told that medical tests and X-rays showed quadruplets. They are due in May.

New York Pastor Will Speak at Ashokan Service

REV. PHILIP S. WATTERS
Speaker at the organ dedication service at the Ashokan Methodist Church Sunday 8 p. m. will be the Rev. Dr. Philip S. Watters, minister of the Washington Square Methodist Church, New York City.

The Rev. Dr. Watters served churches in the Newark Conference of the Methodist Church during the years 1914-1929. He has been a member of the New York Conference of the Methodist Church since 1930 and for six years was president of the former Drew Seminary for Young Women, Carmel. The Rev. Dr. Watters' interest in music in Christian worship has continued throughout his ministry. He is a member of the executive committee of the Hymn Society of America, and is currently serving on the judging committee of the society which will choose new hymns to be used at the Fifth World Order Study Conference November, 1958.

Albert Fox, Olive Bridge, will be guest organist at the dedication. He will play Faure's "The Palms," Clark's "Ave Maria" and Weavers' "The Last Chord" during the ceremonies. The organist of the Ashokan Methodist Church, Mrs. Charles Siedler, Shokan, will play for the service. A social hour will follow in the church school rooms.

Forecast Close, but . . .

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Weatherman George Brancato told the Optimist Club yesterday he made almost perfect forecasts and yet failed to predict the two biggest snow storms of the winter in St. Louis. He had forecast rain in both cases but the temperature turned two or three degrees colder than he had figured. Brancato said. The result was 11 inches of snow one time and nine inches the other.

Courteous Burglar

DALLAS (AP)—A burglar broke into a five and dime store last night and used a hammer, three chisels, a screw driver and a monkey wrench on the safe. He knocked off the knob and forced open the door. He found a second door between him and the loot and left, leaving this note in an office typewriter:

"Too bad. I will get in next time when I'm more prepared. Thank you and goodbye till then."

Just Confederate Loot

ALLENSVILLE, Ky. (AP)—David Abney and Billy Carter unearthed a glass jar containing $2,700. But their joy didn't last long. The youngsters' fortune in denominations of $1 to $100 was all Confederate money — in perfect condition. Authorities said yesterday where the money originally came from was a mystery.

187,000 Hold U. S. Jobs in New York

NEW YORK (AP)—There are 187,000 federal employees in New York State, the National Civil Service League reports.

The federal payroll totals 844 million dollars a year in the state. These figures compare with national totals of 2,211,000 employees and a 10-billion-dollar payroll, the league reports.

The league says 75,000, the largest number in New York, work for the Post Office, with 62,000 Defense Department employees and 16,000 in the Veterans Administration.

Probe Team Seeks Cause of Air Blast

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—An Air Force investigation team today was to try to determine the cause of a B47 jet in-flight explosion that killed the pilot and injured two other officers here yesterday.

The team, headed by Col. Leslie W. Holman, arrived hours after the intermediate range bomber blew up and rained debris over an eight-square mile area. The wreckage scattered in an expanding southeast residential section of the city, narrowly missing occupied homes.

None of the area residents was injured and property damage was slight.

The Air Force identified the dead pilot as Lt. William T. Booy, 27, of Kansas City, Mo. He apparently was trapped in the nose section of the craft.

CONFORMIST VS. REBEL

A few years back, when anyone complained that there was too much conformity in the United States, he usually had reference to the realm of political thought. But today we're being assailed for practicing many kinds of conformity — almost from the cradle on up.

Recently a professor of psychiatry at the University of Pennsylvania's medical school, Dr. Frederick Allen, suggested we ought to give more leeway to the young rebel.

He didn't say or imply that squelching rebels leads sometimes to an exaggeration of rebellious tendencies which may find outlet in delinquent behavior. But he might well have said it.

What he did say was that a "rebel quality" is an essential part of emotional well-being . . . an ingredient of a healthy, creative person."

He's not talking here about wild rebellion against all discipline and all authority but about the "kind of ferment we like to see in youth—capacity to think, capacity to question."

But our society doesn't encourage this kind of revolt. At any given time it has an image of a favored type of youngster. This image more often than not is fostered by both home and school and may be reinforced by group pressures from a youngster's schoolmates.

The rebel, the one with the talent and the courage to think differently, may find himself trapped. Either he yields to the immense pressures to follow pattern, or he wastes his creative energies in the purely negative business of combating those who want to press him into the mold.

Not too many of our youngsters today can emerge from this sort of struggle with enough spirit left to push on to imaginative endeavors.

We live in a time geared to mass production. We are compelled to deal more and more with people in the mass, as our numbers soar toward the 200-million level.

But a free society is built around the central core of the individual. If he is not free to develop to fullest flower—to grow, to question, to strike out on his own—then democracy is robbed of the very heart of its meaning.

PUBLIC AND PRIVATE

When a trusted public official uses his office and influence for personal gain most people are shocked. This is as it should be. Heaven forbid that we ever reach the point where official misconduct is accepted as a matter of course.

Yet immorality in government can sometimes be a symptom of immorality in the citizenry. Every worker who delivers less than an honest day's work for his pay contributes to this immorality. Every voter who accepts an unwarranted favor from a politician, every salesman who makes a sale by promising a kickback, every employer who tries to pay an employee less than he deserves, carries a measure of guilt.

We have a right to expect that public officials will regard their offices as public trusts. We have the right, that is, as long as we ourselves are honest in our dealings with other people.

A PACKED HOUSE

The National Press Club packed them in to hear Soviet Ambassador Mikhail A. Menshikov talk. The silk-hatted swallow-tailed emissary of the Kremlin came bearing the Word.

Did the National Press Club ever pack the house to listen to a representative of the Hungarian people? Has the National Press Club ever invited men from the Assembly of Captive Nations to speak, and packed the house to listen?

Men like Menshikov always get a better hearing in many places in free America than do men who come to speak the hard truth, to tell of the hard road which still separates mankind from a world that is free.

'These Days'

A HIDDEN REPORT

Who got hurt by the unpublished annual report of the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee?

Someone must have, for the report long ago written and made ready has not yet been made available to the public. Many volumes of the hearings have appeared, but not the annual report to Congress. And without an annual report, how can Congress justify voting the Committee funds? What has the Committee done during the past year to justify an additional appropriation? One of the matters which the report as originally written contains, according to my information, is a section on the suicide of Dr. Herbert Norman, the Canadian ambassador to Egypt. An American Congressional committee has no function examining a Canadian ambassador, but it so happens that many of Norman's activities concerned Americans and took place in association with Americans. He was on the most intimate terms with many American diplomats, particularly those who have had left wing associations.

Norman committed suicide last April in Cairo, and an attempt was made by Canada's then Secretary for External Affairs, Lester Pearson, to blame that suicide upon the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee. This gave some Senators the jitters and embarrassed the State Department no end. The information at the time, however, was that a Canadian commission was about to be appointed to investigate Norman's conduct. A Canadian commission is a much tougher body than an American Congressional committee because the Fifth Amendment is unavailable to those who wish to squirm out of telling the truth. Also hearings are rarely in public and therefore the witness cannot depend upon friendly reporters to protect him from abuse, if any.

Senator Arthur Watkins of Utah, a Republican member of the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, has, since the Norman episode, set himself up as censor of the Committee's conduct with the result that the Committee became inactive, its counsel, Robert Morris resigned and is now running for Senator in New Jersey, and the annual report has been delayed. The delay is attributed to Senator Arthur Watkins' refusal to sign the report. The normal procedure for a Senator when he objects to the report of a committee of which he is a member, is to prepare a dissenting report which is published simultaneously with the majority report, but when a committee has a rule that a unanimous vote is necessary for a report, one member can delay its publication, or force changes to be made in it, to get it out at all.

It may be recalled that Senator Watkins presided over the Committee which held trial over Senator Joe McCarthy and which resulted in the condemnation of Senator McCarthy. When this Committee was appointed I asked Joe McCarthy what he thought of Senator Watkins. He told me that Senator Watkins was his friend and that he expected that nothing serious would come of the hearings. He entered upon them in that spirit, but soon discovered that he had again been outfoxed by the White House crowd who had set up the various devices to oppose McCarthy. Apparently Senator Watkins is doing the same kind of a job on the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee.

This Committee has been in existence seven years. Last year, it spent more than $250,000 of the public's money, although part of that went to political appointees who do no effective work of investigation. This is a habit among Congressional committees that needs correction and is one reason why many investigations once started, are not completed. The committees run out of funds taking care of political appointees.

Also, in the year 1958, there is no political profit in the work of this Committee. The Administration does not favor disclosures of errors of judgment, say in the handling of the Hungarian revolt; the Democrats do not want historic disclosures, say of the relations between President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Communist leader, Earl Browder—disclosures which cannot long be suppressed because the truth discloses itself in other ways. The Canadians object to disclosures which involve any of their political leaders or their businessmen who operate carrels, whether for newspaper or for whiskey, in the United States. Members of Congress, in an election year, dislike controversial reports which might arouse unfavorable public opinion. They like everything to be sweet and safe.

So all-in-all, this Committee has found itself to be politically unpopular and lacking in advantage to its members, who are, after all, only politicians. (Copyright, 1958, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Quick Action Is Necessary If Child Swallows Poison

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

On several previous occasions I have discussed accidental poisoning, particularly when it involves children and substances which they have obtained around the house. Prevention by keeping poisonous substances out of the reach of children is by far the most important aspect, but on this occasion I want to mention a few of the recommendations of the Committee on Toxicology of the American Medical Association on first aid measures if poisoning does occur.

In most cases where a poison is swallowed, vomiting should be produced immediately. In order to do this, the child should be given one or two cups for a child from one to five years old and more for anyone over that age).

Vomiting can then be induced by putting the blunt end of a spoon or finger at the back of the patient's throat, or sometimes by the use of two tablespoonsful of salt in a glass of warm water.

As soon as vomiting begins the patient should be put face down with the head lower than the hips. This prevents the vomitus from entering the lungs and causing further damage.

THESE STEPS should NOT be taken if the patient is unconscious, is in convulsions, or has swallowed petroleum products such as kerosene, gasoline or lighter fluid.

Nor should they be taken if the poison swallowed is corrosive, including such substances as toilet bowl cleaners, acids, rust removers, drain cleaners, washing soda, household bleaches and the like.

For corrosive and acid poisons one should give milk, water or milk of magnesia (one tablespoonful to one cup of water), and milk, water or any fruit juice or vinegar for the alkali poisons, such as drain cleaners, washing sodas and household bleaches.

Of course, the doctor should always be called at once; the above are emergency measures to employ before he arrives, unless he gives different instructions over the telephone.

IF CHEMICAL burns should occur on the skin, the area affected should be washed immediately with large quantities of running water (unless the burn was caused by phosphorus). The area should then be immediately covered with loosely applied clean cloth, but greases, ointments or powders should be avoided.

If the victim of chemical burn is in shock he should be kept flat, warm and reassured until the physician arrives.

If some irritating poison is splashed into the eyes, the eyelids should be held open and the eyes washed gently with a stream of running water immediately. Delay of a few seconds greatly increases the injury.

The washing should be continued until the physician arrives; chemicals should not be put into the eyes.

It Won't Budge . . .

Washington News

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, (NEA)—The

question is where to begin priming the pumps to start money circulating again and start the country back on the road to full prosperity.

The idea of trying to stimulate the home building industry for this purpose has been gaining adherents. Even the Eisenhower administration seems to be leaning that way.

This is indicated by the new bill prepared by Housing Administrator Albert M. Cole, as an offset to the more liberal measures introduced by Senate Housing Subcommittee Chairman John Sparkman (D-Ala.).

The argument of housing lobby leaders is that a 25 per cent pick-up in their business, to bring it back to 1955 levels, would mean 700,000 more jobs on-site and another 100,000 jobs off-site for their lumber and materials supply.

Furthermore, since every new housing unit means another $1,500 in purchases of furniture and household goods, still another 100,000 jobs might be created indirectly.

THE ADVANTAGES which a housing boom would have over a big public works program, as a quick stimulus to business, are obvious. Home building is mostly small business. It is widespread. There is need for additional housing in almost every part of the country. New housing can be started on short notice, with comparatively little planning.

Big public works programs, on the other hand, take 12 to 18 months to get started. There must be elaborate planning. Projects can be started only at carefully selected sites. And not every community in the country could be benefited.

Even highways take longer to get started. They require elaborate surveys an often lengthy proceedings on site acquisitions before actual construction can begin.

For this reason, highways and public works are being considered as second and third steps in the recovery program. They would be used only if the recession is protracted.

For still other reasons, the idea of using a tax cut as a first business stimulant has been losing support.

EVEN THE Joint Congressional Economic Committee recommends no tax cut unless monetary controls, credit expansion and government spending programs fail to stem the recession.

Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill.) files a lone dissent on this point. He believes that a one-year, $100 increase in personal exemption or a cut from 20 to 15 per cent tax on the first $1,000 of net income would start spending again.

As a further stimulus to spending, Senator Douglas would also repeal federal excise taxes on household appliances, leather goods and a few other consumer items.

The objection to the Douglas tax cut proposals is that they would give the average family only about $20 to $50 more purchasing power a year. This isn't even a down payment on a new car. And the auto industry needs help, too.

In the aggregate, the $100 increase in personal exemption would cost the Treasury an estimated 2.75 billion dollars. The 20 to 15 per cent tax rate cut on the first $1,000 of net income would cost the Treasury an estimated 3.5 billion.

IF FEDERAL tax receipts are out that much, the budget will be further unbalanced and the government will have to go that much deeper into debt. Interest

Recession 'Cures' Feared As Worse Than the 'Disease'

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — There's an old saying that "the remedy could be worse than the disease," and that's what might happen if all or even some of the various anti-recession measures being proposed in Congress were put into effect.

Sen. Harry Byrd, Democrat of Virginia, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, gives an inkling of what might occur when he says that if two pending bills, each providing $5,000,000,000 or more in tax reduction, are adopted, this might throw the Federal Treasury $10,000,000,000 to $15,000,000,000 into the red.

There are about 5,200,000 persons now out of work but, if America embarks on what could result in a runaway inflation, the eventual "bust" could bring about an unemployment many times that figure.

The Eisenhower administration is not allowing itself to be stampeded by pressure for tax reduction and, when it comes up with a plan, it will be one that takes into account the long-range as well as the short-range aspects.

The government would surely face a serious situation from a fiscal point of view if, without waiting to get a clear picture of just what has been happening in the national economy, it interjected an unbalancing factor in the way of a sharp reduction in tax receipts.

The psychological effect, in other words, of a deficit of $10 to $15 billion might tend to bring such a pessimistic outlook for the long-range future as to discourage the very sentiment needed now for business recovery. The stock market would be one of the first institutions to reflect the coming of an inflationary spiral.

For, if the 50-cent dollar of today were to be headed down toward a 25-cent value in the next few years, obviously prices of stocks would tend to rise commensurately. This would be an artificial upsurge that could in the end bring on a smash.

Tax Cut No Jobless Aid

It is no surprise, therefore, that words of caution came from Secretary of the Treasury Anderson on Wednesday after his conference with President Eisenhower and his economic advisers. There is need, of course, for tax revision, but it should be undertaken on a gradually changing rate basis and not just as a means of distributing purchasing power to individuals. It should include a method of stimulating the heavy-goods industries so that manufacturing corporations can begin to plan for new equipment and plants.

It it were merely a case of giving cash to the public generally, it would cost far less to aid certain distressed areas on a local basis. For most of the tax reduction to those who already have jobs and savings enough to continue a high velocity of purchasing. The unemployed, on the other hand, would not benefit by a tax reduction to individuals. Business itself would have to be encouraged somehow by corporate-tax reductions to create more employment. This would have an impact on industrial conditions generally.

Business Upset Last Year

Last year, when this correspondent was almost alone in defending the $71,000,000,000 budget of the President, there was a widespread pressure in Congress for reducing the spending. It resulted in an artificial restraint on the flow of defense expenditures. The sudden cuts and the modification of the system of government financing of defense contracts by advance payments threw many a business into an embarrassing position. The manufacturers were forced to borrow at high rates to pay bills the government customarily paid while the work was in process.

This weakness has now been remedied and the government is readjusting its method of handling defense contracts. It is speeding up the allocation of orders, too. Defense spending is now estimated by Secretary McElroy at $11,700,000,000 for the first six months of 1958, as compared with half that amount for the last six months of 1957. There are also to be noted some marked increases in spending not only by the Federal but by state and local governments for important projects previously put aside.

Retail Sales Fairly Steady

There are signs, too, that retail sales are held fairly well throughout the country. The Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, in its latest report, says the decline in employment is basically due to inventory reductions and decreases in durable goods as well as defense hardware. These factors can be helped by the unspectacular steps already taken in the Defense Department and in purchases which were authorized for the government to make but were delayed during the "economy" wave of last year.

The present recession wasn't "planned," as some Democratic Senators are saying, but it is in part the direct result of the drive made early last year by some of the same Democrats to curtail defense appropriations. A change came when the first Soviet "Sputnik" was launched late in 1957. The biggest economists of last year in Congress are among those who would spend extravagantly this year and also would deprive the Treasury of billions of tax revenue. If politicians instead of economists are heeded, the "remedy" indeed may prove worse than the disease. (Reproduction Rights Reserved)

Special Series on Consolidation

Kingston's Role Under Enlarged School Plan

(Editor's Note—This is the fifth in a series of articles on the Greater Kingston School District plan. Today's article shows how the State Education Department sees consolidation. Residents of Kingston will vote on this important educational step Wednesday, April 2.)

The so-called Rapp-Covdort Committee, established by the State Legislature in 1940, prepared a report based on six years of study and deliberation entitled, "The Master Plan for School District Reorganization." It is this report, published in 1947, which is now familiarly known as the "Master Plan." It provides the framework under which we are organized as a system of public schools in New York State today. It has been modified as conditions change and was modified again in 1957. The recent modification of the "Master Plan" reads in part, "Recommendations shall be principally directed toward the reorganization of areas in and around the city school districts of cities having less than one hundred twenty-five thousand inhabitants."

Saw No Gain at Time
Greater City School consolidation became possible with special New York State legislation in 1952. At that time "Extra State Financial Aid" in the amount of $100 per rural child up to 200 pupils in any component district, minus $3 per $1,000 of true value of the district, was awarded to the enlarged district. Few consolidations were formed since many districts saw no great financial gain in the plan at that time.

In 1955 the extra state financial aid feature was doubled and now computation is based on $200 per rural child up to 400 children in any component rural district minus $1.50 per $1,000 of true value in the district. For the Kingston area, this amounts to an anticipated figure in excess of $400,000 annually—henceforth.

The plan basically was designed to provide better education in a single administrative (K-12) unit for rural children around cities and at the same time improve the education of all the children. The extra state aid feature roughly approximates the extra state aid enjoyed by "Central Schools."

Tends to Enlarge Districts
The "Master Plan" tends to enlarge the size of school districts. The state feels that a school district which has too few children to maintain a school providing a separate teacher and classroom for each grade is unsatisfactory.

At the same time, a school system too poor to raise the tax money to support such a school cannot provide the type of education required by our modern civilization. An efficient school system must be large enough to provide a good tax base, enough resident children to assure reasonable attendance in each grade, enough interested and capable people to provide leadership and control, and enough people of varied outlook on school affairs to promote stimulating assistance to school authorities.

At one time New York State had 11,857 different school districts. As of July 1, 1957, New York State had 503 Central Districts comprising 8,260 former districts. These schools serve some 580,000 children. Presently there are 16 complete or partial City Consolidations. The 10 complete consolidations are: Batavia, Rome, Ithaca, Oneida, Oneonta, Hornell, Lockport, Corning, Elmira, and Auburn. The 16 city consolidations comprise 221 former districts and accommodate some 15,000 children. Substantially over 90 per cent of New York State is either centralized or consolidated. It is only fair to state that State Education officials would in all probability be forced to permit a centralization or joining of rural district with-out Kingston, if the Greater Kingston Consolidation should be voted down.

Up to Commissioner

Any reorganization of school districts is subject to the approval of the Commissioner of Education. He is responsible to all of the people of New York State to ensure that all children receive a good education and that New York State maintain its high comparative position educationally with the other states of the nation. His policies are intended to provide the greatest benefits to the greatest number of children and people.

Ahavath Men Plan Services Tonight

The Men's Club of Congregation Ahavath Israel will conduct Sabbath services tonight, Friday, March 14, at 8:15 o'clock. All members and friends of the Congregation are invited to the prayer services and the Oneg Shabbas which follows.

Those men who have been assigned prayer reading, and those who wish to participate are urged to come to the Synagogue at 8 p. m. so that the services may be started promptly.

Area Men Attend Retail Lumber Training Session

Two area men were among 47 students to graduate from the 25th retail lumber training institute held at University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Mass., completed Thursday.

They are John G. Garon of Kingston Lumber Company and Calvin H. Cody of Cody Coal and Grain Company, Malden-on-Hudson.

30-Day Course

Graduation marked the end of a comprehensive 30-day training course in the fundamentals of the building industry which was jointly sponsored by the University and Northeastern Retail Lumbermen Association, Rochester.

Instruction was given by members of the university faculty who are experts in the technical phases of lumber and building materials. A large part of the instruction was handled by leading manufacturers, wholesalers, and trade association officials who through their long years of experience have become experts in the distribution of lumber and building supplies.

Cody and Garon will return to their firms better equipped to serve the public in the home and repair and modernization field. Over 937 retail lumbermen have graduated from these institutes during the past 11 years.

On the final day, President J. Paul Mather, presented each student with a certificate of completion evidencing mastery of the subjects.

Joseph E. Hollingworth, president, Pratt and Forrest Co. of Lowell, Massachusetts, served as toastmaster for the ceremonies.

Speaker Traces Rocket History In Kiwanis Talk

"The Rockets Red Glare" was the subject of an address at the Kingston Kiwanis Club Thursday by Howard Davenport, public relations assistant of the New York Telephone Company.

Tracing the history of rockets from the ancient Chinese civilization to the modern day, the speaker revealed that the idea of rockets was not new but the advancement of the modern age was not far from astounding.

"A triumph of electronic science," was the phrase utilized by Davenport who illustrated his talk with motion pictures showing the development of the rocket in warfare and for protection.

The guided rocket missile Nike which seeks out and destroys attacking enemy aircraft, was developed by the Bell Laboratories in conjunction with Douglas Aircraft and MIT. The speaker explained that Nike was the Greek Goddess of Victory—hence the name for the protective missile. He further revealed that the guided missile will travel higher and faster than any aircraft known and that it is guided by an electronic brain.

The development of Nike was triggered by the advance in speed which in turn has reduced the boundaries of world countries to within quick striking range of enemy aircraft in the matter of a few hours. For protection against swiftly-moving enemy aircraft, the United States has jet interceptor planes, improved radar and locating defense, and then Nike, the guided missile. A vivid illustration of the effectiveness of Nike was shown in motion pictures of the actual missile in action and the result on an approaching plane.

The advent of push-button warfare demands push-button defense, according to Davenport. The guided missile Nike, was the answer to this.

In conclusion, Mr. Davenport presented a "live demonstration" of Nike and its activities. By means of two models, the speaker displayed a radarscope which sighted the plane, (model) and released Nike, (another model), which destroyed the plane.

Father Throws Two Children Into River

WHEELING, W. Va. (AP)—A 33-year-old steelworker told authorities at nearby Wellsburg last night that he had thrown his two young children into the frigid Ohio River from a bridge in Wheeling.

After several hours questioning, the Brooke County sheriff's office said it was convinced that the man, John Turner, of Beech Bottom, near Wellsburg, "was telling the truth."

A search of the river was begun immediately. Wheeling city police said they found foot and hand prints in the fresh snow on the sidewalk and rail of the Fort Henry Bridge. They said some of the prints appeared to be those of children.

Brooke County Deputy Sheriff Evan Rees said Turner was incoherent at first and sobbed deeply at times. He said Turner could give no reason for his action.

Rees quoted Turner as saying he and the children, Betty Marie, 7, and John Jr., 4, left their house about 10:30 last night to go to a store.

Senate Group Is Likely to Favor Road Projects

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Public Works Committee is expected to approve today a highway construction speedup bill to add 1½ billion dollars to the money available this year.

Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.), chairman of the public roads subcommittee which completed work on the bill last night, said it would have two main effects:

1. Provide thousands of jobs over the nation to counter the recession.

2. Put the 41,000-mile super-highway network—the interstate system—back on the 13-year schedule originally planned for it.

Gore predicted the Senate will pass the bill next week. He noted that it had strong bipartisan approval in his subcommittee. The highway measure is a major item in an anti-recessionary package on which Senate Democratic leaders are driving for quick action.

The subcommittee also wrote into the bill a provision to regulate billboards along the interstate system, but in a watered-down form which left its sponsors unhappy.

Court Upholds Farmers
NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—The right of dairy farmers to band together in an effort to better themselves economically has been upheld in a Superior Court ruling here.

Judge Mark A. Sullivan yesterday denied a motion to permanently bar the Tri-State Master Dairy Farmers' Guild from striking North Jersey milk plants.

Attorneys for the 15 milk dealers who had sought the injunction charged the Guild is "an unlawful conspiracy" designed to fix the price of milk.

Sullivan ruled that while the issue between the Guild and the dealers in a strike last year was "not a labor dispute," there is nothing unlawful in the farmers organizing for their economic betterment and trying to reach such an objective.

New President Of Rotary Board

DONALD G. COOPER

New officers of Kingston Rotary Club Board of Directors were elected Thursday night.

Donald G. Cooper, manufacturing division production manager at the Kingston IBM plant, was elected president.

Other officers include: Adrain Kaplan, vice-president; Harry Edson, secretary and A. Theodore Young, treasurer. The four new board of directors members, selected the previous week by the club members, were in attendance at the meeting. They include Richard Tucker, Clement I. Angstrom, Dr. Herbert Schwartz and Joseph O'Connor.

The newly-elected president, a mechanical engineer graduate, was president of the Endicott Junior Chamber of Commerce before moving with his wife and three children to 67 Harding Avenue. He is a member of the consistory of Fair Street Reformed Church.

Kaplan, secretary-treasurer of Kaplan Furniture Co., Inc., is a trustee of Temple Emanuel and is past president of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, the Kingston Uptown Businessmen's Association and the Ulster County Council of Social Agencies.

William E. Rylance, present president, conducted the meeting.

Miller's Lane Is

1934 with 22 charter members at the corner of Broadway and Brewster Streets and moved to the present address October, 1937.

In 1950 the present church building was moved to a new location on its lot to provide for a basement Sunday school addition. The entire building was renovated and in addition a parsonage was purchased in 1955.

The present three-story building is used for the five departments of the Sunday school and three youth groups, and church services. The local church is a part of the World Wide Missionary Organization and gives over $3,600 to foreign missions.

With a strong missionary and evangelical ministry, the local congregation has grown in numbers and membership resulting in the action to purchase land and build.

Building Fund Sunday
Sunday a cash offering and pledge offering will be received for the building fund. The Rev. L. J. Isch, district superintendent of the Northeastern District of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, will speak at the 11 a. m. service and 7:30 p. m. service.

Accord Notes
By JULIUS LUDWIG
Colonial Heroine

In studying old records of Ulster County we are sometimes rewarded with illuminating glimpses of life in those times.

What courage and fortitude they reveal! Among the residents of Wiltwyck (Kingston) in that fateful year 1663 were Doctor Gysbert Van Imbroek and his young wife, Rachel de la Montagne, who was the daughter of one of the vice-directors of Fort Orange (now Albany), and their two small children. In June of that year the Indians struck. They massacred and burned the settlement, and when they finally left they took with them a number of prisoners, among them Rachel. For months she was a captive, but finally she managed to escape. What indomitable courage must have sustained her, to make her way back through the wilderness to the settlement and to her grieving family. But such hardships take their toll. A year later Rachel died, following the birth of her third child.

History relates many stories of the indomitable human spirit. Life was hard in those early days, and the courage of men and women rose to meet it. Accord, too, has many landmarks that remind us of the colonists. And here, on Route 209 (just a short drive from Kingston) stands the Accord Furniture & TV Mart, its ten large show windows featuring name brand furniture, lamps, rugs, mirrors and pictures. All at guaranteed lowest prices. Budget terms arranged. Free delivery.

During March many items are sale-priced, with savings up to $100. Hours are 9 to 5:30 on weekdays, and on Sundays it's "open house" from 2 to 5. Evenings by appointment—call Kerhonkson 2711.

Ike, Macmillan to Study Plans for Summit in June

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Macmillan will meet here in June to coordinate U. S.-British planning for a summit conference with Russia.

The White House announced the meeting will be held June 9-10. By that time the issue of whether to hold a summit conference will very likely be settled, officials believe, and most of them say privately they are sure there will be a conference.

Other subjects expected to come up in the Eisenhower-Macmillan sessions include cooperation between the United States and Britain in atomic energy developments, U. S. supplies of nuclear missiles for British bases, Middle Eastern problems, East-West trade and a review of conditions in the Far East.

Macmillan will deliver a commencement address June 8 at De-

Pauw University at Greencastle, Ind. "The President," the White House announcement said, "has taken advantage of the occasion of the Prime Minister's visit to this country to invite him to stop briefly in Washington for a general discussion with the President and the Secretary of State."

Eisenhower and Macmillan met twice last year—in Bermuda last March and in Washington last October. Both also attended a meeting of the heads of government of the NATO countries in Paris in December.

White House press secretary James H. Hogan was asked whether the new talks would include discussion of the possibility of a summit conference with Soviet leaders if there was no decision on holding a meeting by early June. He said that under such circumstances he would assume the talks would deal with that matter among others.

Set April 21 Vote On Fate of Saxton One-Room School

Residents of former Saxton School District will vote Monday, April 21 on whether or not to continue classes in the one-room school building in that hamlet, it was announced today.

If the Saxton School is closed, the pupils from that area will be transported by school bus to other school buildings in the Saugerties Central School District.

The setting of the date was motivated by a petition signed by 43 residents of the former school district presented at a recent Saugerties Board of Education meeting.

The Saxton school building is one of the oldest in the area. It is a one-room structure with no modern conveniences. Outdoor toilets are still in use at that location.

Pupils ranging from kindergarten through 6th grade are enrolled. They range in age from 5 to 12 years of age.

At a special meeting of the board this week a review of salary schedules for teachers was held.

It was brought out that a considerable number of teachers on the Saugerties faculty list are below the step on the Saugerties teacher schedule for which they qualify. The Saugerties schedule is on four levels.

The first level is for teachers who do not have a degree and begins at $3,900 and advances in 12 steps to a maximum of $5,975. The second level is for teachers with a degree and ranges from $4,000 to a maximum of $6,000 in 14 steps or advances. The third level is for teachers who have 15 hours of accrued credit beyond the AB degree and ranges from $4,150 to $6,750. The fourth level is for teachers with a Master's Degree, and ranges from $4,300 to $6,900 in 14 advances.

In an effort to bring as many teachers as possible to their earned step on the schedule—earned in terms of experience and training—the board granted as many as three increments in some instances to an individual teacher. Increments amount to $200. No teacher has been granted more than a single increment or raise unless it was necessary to do to bring the salary to the earned step on the schedule.

Dr. Morse pointed out that in granting these salaries, the board is doing no more and even less in some instances than has been done by the majority of school boards in the Hudson Valley and elsewhere throughout the state. Most communities in the Hudson Valley have placed the teaching staff on the step salary schedule.

Raps Loretta, Partner
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Television star Loretta Young's husband accuses her and her business partner of "dishonesty, mismanagement and unfairness."

Advertising executive Tom Lewis, whose 17½-year marriage to the actress has been considered one of Hollywood's happiest, filed a civil suit yesterday to dissolve their company, Lewislair Films, Inc. The company has had a part in producing her filmed show seen Sunday nights on NBC-TV.

He alleged that Miss Young and her partner, Robert F. Shewalter, "in combination as directors and stockholders and president and secretary-treasurer" have "exercised complete control over the corporation to the complete exclusion" of Lewis.

Order Is Issued Against Illegal Pin-Ball Games

District Attorney Howard C. St. John yesterday issued notice to the effect that all pin-ball machines listed as illegal are to be removed from premises where they are now operating in the city and county.

The type considered illegal are, in general, of the bagatelle or spring-release variety, which, by electrical control, permit shooting for score, and occasionally allow the scoring of free games on the basis of score. Others, which require skillful shooting by direct hand control are permitted to operate.

Both type machines are operated by the insertion of coins. Scoring is mechanically controlled in the bagatelle type.

Members of the local police department were instructed yesterday to serve notice that the illegal type machines are to be removed from taverns or similar type businesses where they are now operating. Notice was given to owners of several establishments where such machines were found operating.

Similar action was due to be taken by authorities in county areas.

Excise Cut Still Aim of Douglas

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) battled today for an excise tax cut despite overwhelming Senate rejection of his proposal for a slash in both personal income and excise levies.

By a 71-14 vote, the Senate last night defeated Douglas' proposal for tax cuts totaling about $5,200,000,000. He contended the cuts were needed to fight the recession and provide more spending money.

Called Inflationary
Several opponents attacked the Douglas proposal as inflationary. They also objected to the short-cut method he was using in seeking the reduction. Douglas offered his plan as an amendment to a House-passed bill dealing with taxes on certain income of insurance companies. The constitution requires that tax legislation originate in the House, where it normally is processed in committee before reaching the floor.

However, in advance of today's session, Douglas said he planned to offer an amendment to cut excise taxes alone. He told newsmen he felt there was "still a chance" the Senate would accept such an amendment.

Under the proposal turned down last night, a variety of excise, or sales, taxes would be reduced about $2,200,000,000. This would include cutting in half both the 10 per cent excise on autos and the 3 per cent tax on freight transportation.

Parole Unlikely Wetzel Is Given Life Term for Killing Trooper

SANFORD, N. C. (AP)—Frank Edward Wetzel, under life sentence for killing a North Carolina highway patrolman, was convicted yesterday of the murder of a second trooper.

The 35-year-old Seneca Falls, N. Y., native heard a Superior Court jury recommend that he be sentenced to life for slaying Patrolman J. T. Brown.

Judge George M. Fountain immediately imposed a life sentence. He specified that it would not run concurrently with the sentence given Wetzel for killing Trooper W. E. Reece. This made it unlikely that Wetzel ever would be paroled.

Wetzel, who had a long record as a petty criminal in New York State, was convicted last January at nearby Rockingham of murdering Reece. The jury then recommended mercy, and Wetzel was sentenced to life.

Solicitor W. Jack Hooks, who prosecuted the second case, had sought the death penalty through-out. He declared yesterday he'd "do it over again." And he added he felt the second trial had served a purpose because of the consecutive life sentences. "It means we have got him nailed down," he said.

Wetzel, who was committed to a New York State mental hospital last fall for observation, escaped in October after bragging to fellow inmates he would come south and free his brother William from the Mississippi death house. William Wetzel, 33, has since been executed for the murder of a fellow prisoner.

Special Fund Is Sought for Sick, Vacation Pay

Over $48,000 of the salary fund of the Ulster County Highway Department in 1957 went for sick leave and vacation payments and did not go into work done on highway construction or maintenance, County Superintendent of Highways Roland H. Green reports.

This was up $7,000 over the previous year and County Superintendent of Highways Green has asked the board of supervisors to have the Budget Committee set up a separate fund so that this will not detract from the funds available for construction.

Last year 6.36 per cent of the personal services money went for vacations and sick leave. The total amount which was spent in this non-producing manner was $48,170.90. This hampers the construction work plan, Green reported. Separation of the fund would provide a known amount which could be spent for construction and plans for this work could be more easily made.

The suggestion came in the form of a communication to the board Thursday evening and Chairman Relyea referred the matter to the budget committee.

Bills Curb Secret 'Mikes'

ALBANY (AP)—Three measures designed to curb police use of secret microphones have barreled through the Assembly despite some Democratic opposition.

The key measure is a watered-down version of a proposal Gov. Harriman vetoed earlier in the session.

This bill would require police to obtain a court order before installing microphones, as they now must do before using wiretaps.

To meet Harriman's objections, a clause was inserted permitting use of "bugs" for 24 hours, without an order, when the police are in "hot pursuit." The police would have to get a court order later.

Buffalo Firm Low Bidder on Road Job

ALBANY (AP)—The State Public Works Department has received a low bid of $5,938,262 for a big highway construction project on the Thruway.

The bid was submitted yesterday by Stimm Associates Inc. of Buffalo for construction of a .48-mile, four-lane divided portion of the Niagara section, and .3 of a mile of access roads. The access roads will be built along the east side of Black Rock Channel between Wayne and Amherst streets in Buffalo.

Work will begin in about three weeks if the bid is found acceptable, Supt. John W. Johnson said. The project is scheduled for completion by Oct. 1, 1959.

Set Dedication For Mt. Marion School April 27

Dedication ceremonies for the new 10-room Mt. Marion Elementary School of Saugerties Central District will be held Sunday, April 27 at 4 p. m. It was announced by William Ziegler, Saugerties Board of Education president.

The dedication program will begin at 4 p. m., however the building will be open for public inspection until 6 p. m.

President Ziegler will deliver the welcoming address and will introduce the speakers. The pupils from the 6th grade will serve as guides during the visitation period.

Members of the school faculty will be in their rooms following the dedication ceremonies to act as hosts and hostesses.

Francis E. Griffin, chief of the Bureau of Rural Administrative Services of the State Education Department will deliver an address. Others who will speak are Edward Leonard, principal of the newly built school and Dr. Grant D. Morse, superintendent of Saugerties Schools.

Monaco Goes Wild

American-born priest who is royal chaplain, had given them the news.

Automobile horns honked, happy bartenders uncorked champagne for tourists, and yacht whistles in the harbor shrieked.

Monaco's ceremonial cannon boomed out a 104-gun salute—for a princess it would have been only 21—as the citizens began celebrating in this 367-acre principality.

The mother, the former Grace Kelly of Philadelphia, held the new baby in her arms soon after the birth and she herself showed him to Prince Rainier, the 31st absolute monarch of Monaco.

A palace source said the baby's grandfather, John B. Kelly, was informed in Philadelphia of the birth and that he remarked, "Oh, finally a boy."

In Bouncing Health

The little prince was born at 10:30 a. m. in the royal apartments where Caroline had arrived on Jan. 23, 1957, at 9:27. The Parisian baby specialist here for the birth, Dr. Emile Hervet, had been called to the bedside of the former movie queen at 8 o'clock.

Prince Rainier and Grace's mother also were on hand.

The new baby has light brown hair and was reported in bouncing health. He measured 20 inches long as he lay on the baby scales.

A medical bulletin announced that "the infant is perfectly built and cried from the moment of its birth." The bulletin added that the birth was natural and that no drugs or anesthetics were used.

$98,173 Low Bid For West Shokan Span Over Creek

A low bid of $98,173 was received for construction of the West Shokan bridge over Malby Hollow Creek, John W. Johnson, state superintendent of Public Works announced today.

James Berardi Inc., of Kingston submitted the low bid for the new single span 61-foot long bridge and approaches to carry the West Shokan-Peekamoose-Sundown County Road 139 over the creek about a half-mile west of West Shokan. Nine bids were received for the work.

The new bridge will have a curb-to-curb width of 26 feet, with 20-foot wide bituminous macadam approaches. It will be in about the same location as the present structure. The existing bridge has been restricted to one-lane traffic since the fall of 1955 when it was damaged by floods.

Work is expected to get under way in about a month, following a check by state engineers of all bids received. If the low bid is found acceptable after this review, the contract will be officially awarded. The time lapse between receipt of bids and contract award is usually about three weeks.

Scheduled for completion by December 1, all work will be under the supervision of Kurt G. Rauer, district engineer in charge of the department's district office in Poughkeepsie.

Think It Through

By E. F. HUTTON
BLEEDING KANSAS

Rural electrification in our country is about 98% completed. Now the tax-free cooperatives have begun a new war against taxpaying utilities. This is happening in Kansas. Some 29 of the co-ops have asked the Kansas Corporation Commissioner to cancel dual certificates of convenience and authority—that is, the certificates granted to the taxpaying utility companies, long before the co-ops began operations.

The Kansas co-ops want to throw out the free enterprise utilities that pay taxes and give themselves a complete monopoly. What a cartel!

Plainly stated, the co-ops don't want any competition. If they succeed, Kansas would be well on its way to a 100% socialized State so far as electric power is concerned.

The implications of this effort go far beyond the boundaries of one State. If the co-ops get away with such a steal in Kansas, the rest of the States will be next for a take-over.

What this means to us taxpayers, should not be overlooked. The co-ops obtain 97% of their capital from grants by the Federal Government, which Uncle got from us taxpayers. The co-ops were built with our tax money, but pay no taxes, and now want to be free from competition by companies that do pay taxes!

Holy cow! Before they monopolize electricity, tax-free, let's demand that they pay back the capital we taxpayers gave them. That's fair, isn't it, neighbor?

False Card of Queen Swindles

BY OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

Larceny Lou did not bid his four hearts with any intention of making it. He merely hoped to upset the opponents and save a game cheaply.

Even the splendid dummy that hit the table did Lou no real good. He could still see four losing tricks and no real chance to get away from any one of them.

A swindle of some sort seemed in order and it did not take Lou long to work one out. He won the opening spade lead with dummy's ace and led the six of diamonds. East played the king and Lou dropped the queen.

East cashed the queen of spades and noted that his partner dropped the ten. This should have told East that his partner held only three spades to start. He would have played his lowest if he had started with four.

However, East was interested in Lou's play of the diamond queen. He exited with a trump which Lou won in his own hand. Now Lou led a club and knocked out East's ace. East played a second trump and Lou was able to get rid of one diamond loser on his king of clubs and make his contract.

If East had taken note of the fact that his partner had indicated a holding of only three spades he would not have fallen for Lou's play. He would have played Lou for seven trumps and only three cards in the minor suits. In that case his only chance for the setting trick would be to play his ace of diamonds and hope.

BERLIN (AP)—The U. S. Army is bidding farewell to horses—and saying it 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain.

The bugle call of boots and saddles probably will sound for the last time on active service at a farewell parade March 28 for the Berlin command's military police horse platoon.

Four days later the horse platoon, 287th Military Police Company—the last mounted unit in the U. S. Army—will be deactivated.

Too Expensive

"We can't afford the expense," explained the U. S. commander for Berlin, Maj. Gen. Barksdale Hamlett.

The spit-and-polish horse outfit was organized back in 1945 by an old cavalry man, Brig. Gen. Frank L. Howley, America's first commandant in this divided occupied city.

The platoon was supposed to patrol the Grunewald forest border along the Russian zone. It was also trained to break up Communist-organized mobs, but it never saw any more violent action than the annual horse shows.

The platoon commander, 1st Lt. Jeff G. Roberts, 23, of Reidsville, N. C., sighed:

"No, we never caught any Russians on our border patrols. About the only thing we ever caught were two Boy Scouts, stopped from climbing the fence into the Russian zone."

One American Mount

The platoon has 31 horses, most coming from a Hungarian cavalry group captured in World War II by an American airborne unit. Although the horses bear names like "Texas," there is only one real American mount. He is Reno Rake, a veteran of the 1950 Olympics.

Most of the animals will be transferred to the Army's recreational program, for the off-duty enjoyment of equestrian-minded GIs. The Army hasn't decided what to do with the rest of the horses.

Army officers said young Jeff Roberts, perhaps remembering his distinguished southern predecessor, Confederate Gen. J. E. B. Stuart, never gave up hope his platoon would prove its mettle in action. His troopers learned how to sharpshoot with their carbines and pistols and to swing hard with three-foot weighted clubs.

Roberts kept in his office a sign which said: "Jump fearlessly, throw your heart over the fence and your horse will follow."

10 More Chairmen Named for County Red Cross Drive

Morton E. Gazlay, town chairman for Section III, has announced the chairmen for his section for the Ulster County 1958 Red Cross campaign.

The total goal of the county for 1958 is $36,000 and the month of March has been designated as Red Cross month.

Heading up the campaign in their respective towns are:

Denning, Mrs. Pearl Cole and Mrs. Herbert George.

Hardenbergh, George Armstrong.

Hurley, Mrs. George Brown.

West Hurley, Al Nussbaum.

Kingston Town, Mrs. William McGuinness.

Marbletown, John P. Mills.

Olive, Miss Catherine Carlson.

Rochester, Mrs. Millard Davis.

Shandaken, Joseph Feitzinger.

Wawarsing, Mrs. William Davis.

Hope Off for Soviet

NEW YORK (AP)—Comedian Bob Hope is off to Russia to film two television shows during a six-day stay.

Hope left by plane yesterday en route to Moscow. Last Feb. 2 he went to London, expecting to continue on to the Soviet Union, but a snafu developed in his Russian visa. He returned to this country and acquired the necessary travel clearance.

Hope said he was excited over his first trip to Russia, adding: "They have a sense of humor—like us."

New York City contributed 484,260 soldiers to the Civil War, about one-sixth of the Union Army.

Reade 50th Anniversary Coming March 22-April 26

The 50th anniversary of Walter Reade Theatres, which operate two conventional and one drive-in theatre in Kingston, will be observed with a month-long celebration March 22 through April 26, it was announced today by Walter Reade Jr., president.

An anniversary cake, local premieres, movie contests and other events are scheduled during the celebration, Reade said. It was 50 years ago that the late Walter Reade Sr. began operating Pehr's Opera House in Portchester as a film and vaudeville theatre.

Vast Operation Now

His son, Walter Jr., today operates more than 40 conventional and drive-in theatres, a highly profitable catering department, a film distribution company and a number of other enterprises including real estate interests in communities where his theatres are located.

The Reade chain operates the Community and Kingston Theatres and the 9W Drive-In, Town of Ulster.

Introduces Many 'Firsts'

Long identified with the motion picture industry as one of the most progressive theatre circuits in the east the Reade organization has been credited over the years with introducing many "firsts" in their theatres.

In 1937 the American Community Theatres Corp., a subsidiary of Walter Reade, Inc., began building the first of its community type theatres. They are now familiar sights in a number of New Jersey and New York communities, and each is called the Community Theatre such as the Reade theatre on central Broadway here. All of them are colonial in structure.

Other Innovations

Other innovations credited to the Reade chain include the first theatre circuit to install a television set in the theatre for patron viewing; development of the specialized "Curtain at 8:40" series of art and foreign films in theatres that cannot support them on a normal basis; "adult nights" when adults can enjoy films in quiet surroundings; installation of love seats in the lobby sections, and establishment of "party rooms" in the rear of the orchestra for private groups to view films.

Projects underway include the world's first "second story" drive-in theatre being constructed at Dover, N. J., which also will feature a new wireless speaker system.

Big in Food Business

The company entered the food business about 10 years ago and its catering department operates "Refresheries" in all Reade Theatres, restaurants on New Jersey's Garden State Parkway, and food services at trotting tracks, beachfront resorts, etc.

The Reade organization operates Continental Film Distributing, Inc., with main offices in New York City.

The Reade chain maintains headquarters in the former Reade Sr. estate on Deal Road, Oakhurst, N. J. Despite a heavy schedule Reade Jr. has been a

Questions -- Answers

Q—How is chinchilla fur classified?

A—It is generally accepted as a luxury fur, in a classification with sable and ermine. Prices start at $1,200 for small capes or stoles.

Q—When did George Washington issue the order "Put none but Americans on guard"?

A—Tradition credits George Washington with making such a statement after a British deserter had allegedly tried to assassinate the general. There is no historical record of this fact.

Q—When were the crowns of England and Scotland joined?

A—March 24, 1603, under James VI of Scotland who then began his reign as James I.

Q—What is the decathlon?

A—A composite contest consisting of 10 events on the track and field, especially in the modern Olympic Games.

SARANAC LAKE (AP)—The first bingo game licensed under a new amendment to the state constitution attracted an estimated 225 persons, about 190 of them women, here last night.

The game, sponsored by the Loyal Order of Moose, packed two rooms of the Moose Hall. Money prizes were awarded.

The hall is in the Town of Harrietstown, which voted Feb. 20 to permit bingo. The license was issued by the town.

Under the constitutional amendment approved by the state's voters last fall, localities may vote to legalize bingo games conducted by religious, charitable or other non-profit organizations.

2ND HIT— "HELL IN KOREA" — Fighting, Action

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's stockholders are about to have their big day. Annual meetings already under way will flourish like the green bay tree in the next 10 weeks.

And this time what the owners ask management about the results of the recent past and the prospects of the immediate future may have more bite than in some jollier years.

Some Proxy Fights

Opening statements of chairmen of the board seem almost certain to stress the need in these times for confident thinking.

A few of the meetings are due for proxy fights for control. But the vast majority will start with the management having in its pocket all the votes it needs and to spare.

That won't stop the questions. Neither will the efforts of the full time specialists in stockholder relations which some big corporations hire.

More stockholders than ever are expected to turn out. Attendance at annual meetings has grown steadily since the war. Many firms have had to dig up larger quarters to hold the crowds. Most serve a meal and some furnish transportation.

8 Million Now

The total number of stockholders has grown in the past year. It is now well over eight million persons. American Telephone and Telegraph has the most, 1,600,000. General Motors is second with 718,000. Jersey Standard Oil third with 465,000. General Electric next with 380,000 and Ford Motors (later come to the public ownership field) fifth with 280,000.

Some of the meetings should be love feasts. A nice handful of companies can report record earnings in 1957. Many can speak cheerfully about prospects for the months ahead. Stockholders in 229 of the 1,098 companies with common stock listed on the New York Stock Exchange know that the price of their shares increased in 1957. Some are at record highs now.

Some Can Brag

Other corporate situations may call for more explanation to the owners. Since New Year's Day about 150 corporations have cut or omitted dividend payments. But some other companies have much to brag about.

The Exchange, monthly publication of the N. Y. Stock Exchange, says 648 companies listed on the big board have paid quarterly dividends regularly for 10 years or longer, with 45 of these boasting records of 50 or more years of unbroken payments.

Many of the stockholders attending this year's meetings will be reporting much larger holdings than last year.

Thirty-two companies listed on the big board last year sold 33,363,353 additional common shares to their stockholders through issuing rights for a total purchase of $1,322,752,420. And A. T. & T. is tabulating results of its offering of convertible debentures to its stockholders—the largest offering ever made. In time these could be changed into common stock and further swell the total.

The N. Y. Stock Exchange also brags that its brain child, the monthly investment plan of selling stocks on a pay as you go basis, in its four years of life has accounted for sales of 2,059,165 common shares for $80,600,000.

GUNS AND BUTTER—The current American problem of financing defense and also maintaining a high living standard has its counterpart in the Soviet Union. Newsmap, above, based on estimates by General Electric, shows that Russia, with a larger population and smaller gross national product, spends anywhere from half as much to more on defense than does the United States. The result, shown in right-hand corner, leaves the individual Russian with roughly one-fourth a U.S. citizen's living level. Because of inadequate reports, Russian figures could be greater or less, but the comparison would still be valid.

BABSON on BUSINESS

By Roger W. Babson

BABSON DISCUSSES EDUCATION

Babson Park, Mass., March 14 — Since the launching of the Russian Sputniks, there has been much hue and cry about our educational deficiencies. Many people, especially frightened Administration officials and Congressmen, now want us to concentrate on scientific subjects in our elementary and high schools, as well as in our colleges. In their eagerness to restore our lost prestige, they forget that economics and merchandising are as important as physics and chemistry.

What About Teachers' Salaries? Many voices are being raised in Washington in favor of federal aid to schools. It is pointed out that this aid is needed because local communities cannot pay today's high costs of maintaining proper schools. Those who want Uncle Sam to dole out funds for school purposes cite the need for higher salaries for teachers. I think Washington should proceed cautiously in the matter of federal aid to schools. Such a program, though started on a nominal level, would grow to such proportions as to hurt rather than help the over-all economy.

We should remember that our ability to pay is limited. If every request for government aid is granted, we shall hurl ourselves into an economic disaster that could easily mean the end of our way of life. As for teachers' salaries: I am in favor of hiking salary levels to get better teachers. But I do not think it fair to the tax-paying public to give teachers large increases in pay simply for acting as baby-sitters for our children and grandchildren during school hours.

Scholarships Alone are not the Answer
Uncle Sam is being asked to grant scholarships to pupils as an incentive for them to do better work generally and to undertake studies in scientific fields. It is a sound idea to give scholarships to exceptional students; but why expect Uncle Sam to finance them? Local business interests and local governments should partly carry the ball here. However, scholarships alone are not the answer to what ails us educationally.

What we need—and what I have been advocating for a long time—is a complete overhaul of our educational system. For the past couple of generations, we have been growing "soft" in our attitude toward teachers and pupils. "Progressive education" has been anything but progressive. With its emphasis on self-expression, it has destroyed discipline in many of our schools. Today, respect for teachers is the exception rather than the rule, as is respect for the rights of others.

Our Children Are Our
True Wealth

Teachers and educational theorists should not be blamed for all the troubles that beset our schools today. We parents and grandparents are also to blame. In our eagerness to avoid controversy regarding religion in public schools, we have forced school administrators to avoid teaching ethics and morals,—or at least we have sat idly by.

Our children and grandchildren are our true wealth. We need their brainpower and moral fiber to meet the serious problems which we will face in another decade or two. Yet most of us do not spend as much time with our young in a month as we spend working out the details of a single business agreement. And when we are with these young people, do we know how to talk to them, how to capture—and hold—their interest?

County Allotted
$60,266 Share
Of Vehicle Taxes

Ulster County was allotted $60,266.65 as its share of the distribution of $5,149,221.83 motor vehicle tax receipts to counties of New York State and New York City, it was announced today by State Comptroller Arthur Levitt.

New York City's share is $1,611,843.25. This total is a share of state-collected motor vehicle fees for the three months ending December 31, 1957, which is being returned to the counties in accordance with the state highway law.

Nearby county shares are as follows: Sullivan, $20,104.41; Columbia, $25,907.25; Delaware, $20,462.92; Dutchess, $82,331.51; Greene, $19,050.29 and Orange County, $49,180.92.

The law provides that 25 per cent of the fees collected under the vehicle and traffic law, exclusive of application fees and service charge for special plates, from residents of counties be returned to local government.

The money is deposited by counties in the county road funds, from which expenditures for construction and maintenance of county road systems are made. The money paid to New York City is to be credited to the city's general fund for construction and maintenance of city streets, highways and parkways.

Checks are being mailed to the county fiscal officers and to the treasurer of New York City.

'Post Offices'

Stationed along the routes of early stagecoaches in the U. S. were posts for changing horses. Mail was taken off or on at these posts. Hence the present day name of "post offices" for handling mail.

Men's Shoes to Present New Look

Men's shoes will have a new look this spring, according to Leather Industries of America. It will be seen in the shape of toes, in new kinds of straps— but mostly in new soft, supple leathers that make all styles feel as easy on the foot as slippers.

There will be more textured leather in business shoes, as well as those for leisure wear, but all textures will be soft and lightly etched. Leather soles, too, will be lighter and more resilient.

Toes will be long and lean. Some of them will be pointed at the end, some squared off, but most of them will be rounded.

The three-eyel tie will be the most popular style. There will be some five eyelets but they will be cut almost as low as the three-eyel. All ties will have the easy going, casual look of slippers.

New ways with perforations and seams will distinguish the new slippers. Some slippers will have a graduated perforations around the topline, with the largest ones at the back, smaller ones to the front. Others will have perforations in horizontal rows around the toe of the shoe and in vertical rows up the tongue. Some more toes will be outlined with perforations.

Seams will be fine and many of them will be inverted, giving a smooth line. Sometimes a seam will run down the center of a plain toe. And slippers will often have a swirling seam along one side of the toe.

The buckle and strap shoe formerly worn only for casual wear, will be seen in business shoes as well. Probably the most dressy strap will be one only a quarter of an inch wide that fastens in the center with a tiny self-buckle.

Restore Discipline and Study

The first thing we must do for the next generation is to restore their respect for discipline and study. To do this, we must take an interest in our young people. We must teach them ourselves by example, as well as by precept.

As for study: The blame for lack of proper study habits among children today should be laid squarely upon the shoulders of parents. Lax fathers and mothers push their children into adult pursuits too early in life. The result is that boys and girls have such a demanding social life that they may not be able to give sufficient time to study. As they grow older, these social "obligations" increase and study gets still less attention. Failure to correct this trend can one day make us easier prey for some sturdier civilization.

Do You Remember by Sophie Mille.

Mrs. Helen Mann just brought me the official program of the Hudson-Fulton Celebration which took place Sept. 25 to Oct. 9, 1909 in all the cities along the Hudson River. Perhaps other readers may find a copy among their things for I am sure once one has such an interesting illustrated 32 page book one puts it somewhere for keeps.

The front outside cover is a color picture of the Half-Moon and the back cover has the Clermont replica in full steam in color. This is the replica we in Kingston had right here in our own Kingston Point Park. What a museum item it would make today for the anniversary next year. Those who promised the people of New York State to keep it in repair, did not keep their promise and now only parts of it can be seen at low tide.

This book gives full coverage of the event giving the names of all the committees and their chairmen. It reads in part: "The Hudson-Fulton Celebration Commission, consisting of 750 prominent citizens appointed by the Governor of New York State and the Mayor of the City of New York, and incorporated by chapter 325 of the laws of 1906 of the State of New York. Its membership includes the Mayors of all the 47 cities of the State and the Presidents of 38 incorporated villages along the Hudson River. Its affairs are conducted by a Board of Trustees, consisting of the Mayors of the 47 cities and 200 other members, and more than 40 committees embracing the entire membership of the Commission."

Besides this they had a Citizens' Committee which enlisted the cooperation of about 5,000 prominent citizens of the State. The purpose of the Hudson-Fulton Celebration was to commemorate the 300th anniversary of the discovery of the Hudson River by Henry Hudson in the Dutch ship "Half-Moon," in 1609, and the 100th anniversary of the first successful application of steam to the navigation of the river by Robert Fulton with the Clermont in 1807.

In looking through some of the names on the committee I see Andrew Carnegie, J. Pierpont Morgan, Hon. Alton B. Parker, Hon. Oscar S. Straus, William B. Van Rensselaer and Lt. Com. Aaron Vanderbilt.

This celebration grew into such magnitude by the efforts of the excellent and important personages on the committee that it included invitations to nations who in any way had taken part in the growth of this country. Every maritime power had been invited in addition to sending naval vessels to join the naval parade on the Hudson River. Ever so many of them came. It was said that the greatest convention of the navies of the world ever seen in American water appeared to take part in the event. Governor Hughes of New York State also invited Governor Stokes and citizens of New Jersey to take part.

At the time the book was printed some $475,000 was appropriated by the State of New York and the City of New York some $250,000. In addition to these public funds of $500,000 additional had been subscribed in New York City and the cities and villages along the upper part of the Hudson River.

They make your phone more dependable...help keep its cost low

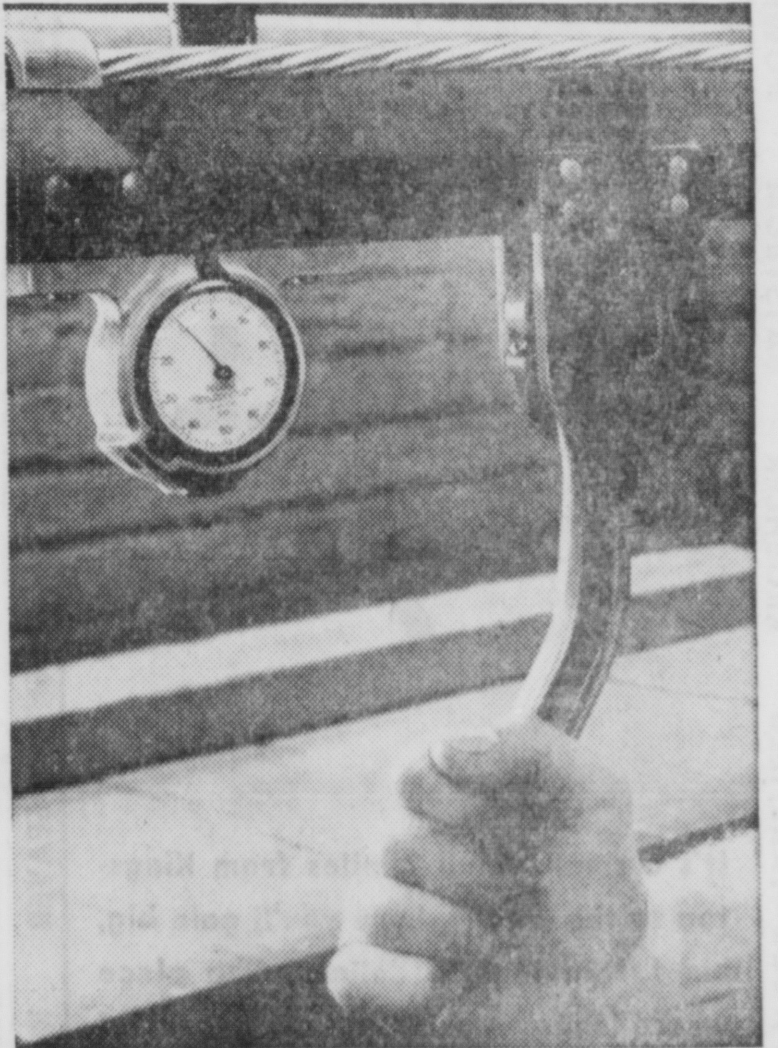

No wonder most of us take the telephone for granted. It's always there, ready to serve us, any hour of the day or night. Fact is, the average phone is out of service only once in six years.

Such dependability doesn't just happen. Keeping millions of dollars' worth of intricate, complicated equipment in top working order is an exacting job. And it would be a lot harder, and costlier, without specially designed tools like the ones shown here.

Over 1,700 different "telephone" tools are in use right now. Helping install new equipment. Speeding repairs. Spotting trouble before it starts. And, most important of all, helping to keep the price of good, dependable telephone service lower than you might otherwise need to pay.

Physicians Invited To Enroll in Course At Albany Medical

Electrocardiograms, and how to interpret them, is the subject of an advanced course that Albany Medical College and the Heart Association of Albany County will sponsor at the Albany Veterans' Administration Hospital, starting March 20.

The course, approved for study credit by the American Academy of General Practice, represents an opportunity for physicians of the northeastern New York area to study and make detailed interpretations of representative electrocardiograms, important aids in the diagnosis of heart disease.

Dr. Donald W. Drew, chief of the cardiovascular section at the Albany V.A. Hospital and assistant professor of medicine at Albany Medical College, will give the course, which will meet from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m. each Thursday through April 24.

Arrangements for the course are under the direction of the medical college's division of postgraduate education. Requests for registration information should be addressed to Dr. Frank M. Woolsey, Jr., associate dean and division director.

League Programs Include Noted League Consultant

The Junior League of Kingston elected new officers at their recent meeting at the Kingston Hotel. They are Mrs. Peter Corsones, president; Mrs. Burton Johnson, second vice president; and Mrs. John Kerns, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. William Hobbs reported that the Board of Trustees of the Kingston Library has announced the opening of the Children's Room at the Library to coincide with National Library Week March 17. The Junior League of Kingston has undertaken the Children's Room as their main project of the year and donated $3,000 to the Library Interest Committee. The lighting, painting and the new floor covering have been completed. It is the hope of the Library Interest Committee that parents will encourage their children to take advantage of the new facilities.

New Members

Mrs. Corsones announced the names of the following 14 prospective new members: Mrs. Amelia Altamari, Mrs. Arthur C. Carr, Miss Mary Louise Cutler, Mrs. Richard Davenport, Mrs. Robert Davenport, Miss Betsy DeWitt, Mrs. William Gaffken, Mrs. Joseph Hill, Mrs. Bernard Mizel, Mrs. George Numrich Jr., Mrs. Charles Petri, Mrs. Robert Rolfe, Mrs. Louis Salzmann, and Mrs. Robert Weber.

Mrs. William Schiff, education chairman, announced that there would be a special meeting of the old and new boards on Monday, March 17, at 9:30 at the home of Mrs. Robert L. Sabin.

Guest Speaker

Dr. Margaret S. Wingert will be guest at the board orientation meeting on March 21. Dr. Wingert is consultant on education of the Association of the Junior Leagues of America, Inc. As consultant she advises the 188 member leagues on League membership education, provisional training, legislative and public affairs programs and education projects and volunteer services.

Dr. Wingert has written articles, booklets and pamphlets on education and group work and is a member of two honorary education fraternities, Kappa Delta Pi and Pi Lambda Theta. A former member of the Council of National Organizations,

DR. MARGARET S. WINGERT

Dr. Wingert, is a member of the executive committee. A graduate of Wheaton College, Norton, Mass., Dr. Wingert received her MA degree at Columbia University.

Dr. Wingert is going to meet with the joint Boards of the League in the morning session March 21 and with the new board of directors in the afternoon. The annual meeting will be held a week later than usual this year, to take place on Monday, April 14 at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Luncheon will be served at 1 p. m. Harry Rigby will also speak.

50 to Model Latest Styles on Saturday In Saugerties Show

Fifty models will display the latest styles in women's and children's wear at the WSCS fashion show Saturday at Saugerties Methodist Church chapel rooms.

The theme will be "Paris in the Springtime." A luncheon prior to the show will be served at 1 p. m. in the chapel rooms, according to Mrs. Helen Baker, chairman.

Mrs. Grace Werner will be the narrator. Other committee chairmen are Mrs. Helen Hardick, wardrobe; Mrs. Myrna Jones, fashions; Mrs. Helen Crank, dining room; Mrs. Gertrude Waldele, luncheon; Mrs. Emily Hartley, tickets; Mrs. Harriet Thompson, decorations and Mrs. Vera Mack, publicity. More than 10 Saugerties merchants including dress shops, department stores, jewelers and bridal shop will participate.

WHEN A FRIEND REFUSES TO BE PAID

Dear Mrs. Post: I found it necessary lately to consult a lawyer about a legal matter. This lawyer happens to be an old family friend. He spent a good deal of time on this matter and when I asked him what his fee was, he said there was none. I feel terribly about this and would like to know if it would be proper for me to send a check anyway for what I think would be his fee. If this is not proper, will you please tell me what I can do to repay his kindness?

Answer: Don't send a check. You can, however, go to him personally and offer him the check saying, "I am deeply grateful for what you did for me. Won't you please let me give you what I can in compensation?" If he refuses, there is nothing to do but to thank him for his kindness to you. In short, don't make a scene of it.

A Very Young Aunt

Dear Mrs. Post: I have an aunt who is only five years my senior. We are both married and travel in the same circle. When we are with others I feel rather foolish calling her "Aunt Jane."

Would it be proper under these circumstances to leave off the "aunt" and just call her "Jane"? Answer: It seems to me that in view of the small difference in your ages, your aunt would be glad to tell you to call her "Jane" if you ask her if she has no objection.

Addressing Wife and Husband

Dear Mrs. Post: We are in doubt as to how to address an envelope to a husband and wife in the more unusual situation of the wife instead of the husband holding a high political office; namely Member of Congress. Please tell us what is correct.

Answer: Official invitations read: "The Honorable Mary Doe and Mr. Doe, but all personal mail sent to their house is written to Mr. and Mrs. John Doe."

Should the wife sit in the front seat of the car when friends are invited for a ride? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. However, leaflet E-15, "Manners in Public," includes

Mid-Hudson School Study Council Plans New Paltz Meeting

"School Organization-Reorganization" will be the topic of discussion for the third in a series of four Mid-Hudson School Board Institute meetings to be held at the State University Teachers College, Thursday, March 20.

Two guest speakers scheduled for this program are Don Sayles, principal of the Mont Pleasant High School, Schenectady, who will discuss the question "Does Organization Offer a Means of Economy?" and Dr. John Ether, principal, Westmere Elementary School of the Guilderland Central School in Albany. His topic will be "Emergency Measures—Pros and Cons."

Robert Kristeller, supervising principal of the Carmel Central School will act as moderator.

According to Dr. Harold M. Elsbree, professor of education who is executive secretary for the Mid-Hudson School Study Council, these institutes are open to all boards of education in the mid-Hudson area. He expects representatives from some 40 school systems to attend the meeting which is scheduled to begin at 7 p. m. with a dinner followed by the speakers at 8:15. These institutes are being sponsored by the Mid-Hudson School Study Council in cooperation with the New York State School Boards Association and the State University Teachers College at New Paltz.

The final program of the series is scheduled for April 16, and the topic for discussion will be "Quality Is Economy in Staffing."

Passion Play Will Be Given March 23

The Ladies of LaSalette Sodality, St. Francis de Sales Parish of Phoenicia, have extended an invitation to the public to see the Passion Play in Corona, L. I., on Passion Sunday, March 23. Taken from the scriptures on a translation from the German Oberammergau, this spectacle is produced by the Rev. Joseph DeMarco, D.D., of St. Leo in Corona, L. I., and directed by Francis J. Caruso, a resident of Mt. Pleasant, Town of Shandaken. A brief synopsis includes a prologue — "Suffer the Little Children to Come Unto Me," "The Entrance Into Jerusalem," "The Last Supper," "The Garden of Gethsemane," "The Trial Before the High Priests," "The Courtyard of Pontius Pilate," "The Way of the Cross," "The Crucifixion," "The Resurrection."

There are 100 in the cast. To make this trip to Corona, L. I., would indeed be worthwhile and a Lenten must for Passion Sunday. A retreat or a mission would probably fall short of the lasting effect produced.

Tickets may be obtained from the Rev. John Gorman or the Rev. Joseph Berard of the St. Francis de Sales Church of Phoenicia. Mrs. Henry Bernstein and Mrs. Leonard Byer of Phoenicia, Mrs. Maria VonSchilling of Mt. Pleasant, Mrs. Thomas Sullivan of Chichester and Mrs. Howard Umhey of Mt. Tremper.

Buses will leave from Phoenicia at the St. Francis de Sales Church, Sunday, March 23 at 11 a. m. to attend the matinee at 2:30 p. m. For those who wish to take their cars, directions may be obtained by calling the above-mentioned.

Annual Spring Art Show in New Paltz

Artists from New Paltz, Milton, Cottekill, Rosendale and other Ulster County towns and villages will exhibit their work at the annual spring show of the New Paltz Art Association.

The show will open Sunday, March 23, with a reception and tea from 3 to 5 p. m. in the lounge of the College Union Building of the State University Teachers College in New Paltz.

Pictures shown will include traditional landscapes and portraits, modern abstract paintings and other art work. They will be on exhibit in the College Union Building from March 23 through March 29. The public is invited to attend.

The Art Show will mark the 11th anniversary of the New Paltz Art Association. The group's weekly art classes are part of the Adult Education Program of the New Paltz Central School.

The Committees planning the show include: Picture hanging: the Mmes. Shirley Gafferty, Marion Pine, Roselyn Dugan, Helen Hoffman, Margaret Des Jardins; Misses Myra Gerald and Edith Holt; Robert Longfield and Thaddeus Beal.

Reception and tea: Chairman, Edith Holt assisted by Miss Myra Gerald and Mrs. Roselyn Dugan. Publicity: The Mmes. Joyce Tenny and Lois Ackert; Miss Edith Holt.

Katrine Auxiliary Plans Supper

Mrs. Lester Hotelling, president of the Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club Auxiliary urges all members of the Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club and their wives or girl friends to attend the 10th anniversary of the auxiliary which will be observed Saturday night with a buffet supper at 7 o'clock, followed by a social evening of music and dancing.

The event will be held at the clubhouse on Parish Lane, Lake Katrine. A most entertaining evening has been arranged and it is hoped for a large attendance.

Protestant Men's Breakfast Set at Lutheran Church

The annual Protestant Men's Communion Breakfast will be held in Trinity Lutheran Church, Spring and Hone Streets, Sunday, March 23, 7 a. m.

The following clergymen will participate in the Communion service, the Rev. J. Dean Dykstra, Fair Street Reformed Church, the Rev. William J. McVey, First Presbyterian, the Rev. Albert Shultis, the Rev. Dr. Kenneth N. Alexander, St. James Methodist, and the Rev. Dr. Frank L. Gollnick, host church. The breakfast will be served in the church assembly hall immediately following the Communion service. Ladies' Aid Society of the host church will serve.

Speaker for the program will be announced.

Area Churchmen To Hold Dinner At Ponckhockie

Churchmen's Fellowship of the Congregational Christian Churches in the Hudson River Association will hold its annual dinner meeting at the Ponckhockie Union Congregational Church Saturday 6:30 p. m.

Speaker for the evening will be the Rev. John W. VanderGroef of Pine Island Parish who will talk on the migrant workers in New York State and their needs. Slides to illustrate his message will be shown.

Sergeant's Body Found

TOKYO (AP)—Japanese newspapers today began weaving a cloak and dagger mystery around the body of a U. S. Army master sergeant found floating in Tokyo Bay. The police identified the dead man as Emmet E. Dugan but the Army withheld confirmation until relatives were notified. A spokesman said the man had been missing since Feb. 4.

Press reports said Dugan spoke fluent Chinese and had been assigned to collect information on Red China. He was frequently seen with Chinese friends, the newspapers said.

Onteora Faces Tough Warwick High in Semi-Finals Tonight

Newburgh Site Of Section 9 Cage Contest

Onteora Central will be playing an underdog role tonight in a semi-final Section 9 playoff against Warwick High School at Newburgh Free Academy. The other contest pitting Liberty and Suffern will be at Middletown.

The switch of the Onteora-Warwick game was requested by Coach Ed Witko because of the anticipated crowd at Middletown if both games were played there.

But, regardless of where the Indians play, they'll be facing probably its most rugged foe of the campaign in the Wildcats which beat Port Jervis, defending champions in the first round, and Tappan Zee, Rockland County champs in the second game round.

Best Effort Needed
Coach Witko's UCAL Champions didn't need its best effort in downing Montgomery. In fact, they were far from it. Needless to say, the boys from Boiceville will have to be at their best against Warwick.

They boast an excellent combination sparked by Mel Langlitz and Bruce Bell and an all-around performer by the name of Winchester.

The dead-panned southpaw can do everything well—and he is the boy the Indians must stop if they expect to move into the finals against the Liberty-Suffern winner.

Beach Strong
Coach Witko has plenty of ammunition to throw against Warwick. He has two equally fine first teams which can run and shoot. But the mainstays of the squad are Artie Gribbins and Bruce Wiederspiel. The latter was injured slightly in the Cairo game last week and was not up to par against Montgomery.

He is fully recovered and is expected to resume his role of chief rebounder for Witko's tribe.

The Indians' starting lineup may be a little different than it was for the Montgomery clash, but Gribbins, Wiederspiel are certain starters, with Bruce, Charlie Cange and Tom McCrosson making up the first five. Ready to enter at a moment's notice are Herb Krein, Terry Grant, Norm Boggs, Dave Janick and Bob Schulman.

The Warwick five will be Langlitz, Winchester, Bradley, Bainbridge and Bell.
Game time is 7:30 p. m.

Delany Tries Again for New Indoor Mark

CHICAGO (AP)—Ron Delany, Ireland's swift-striding gift to Villanova University, gets his next-to-last 1958 try at the world indoor mile record in the Chicago Relays tonight.

A capacity 10,000 in the International Amphitheater will watch Irish Olympic champion Delany scurry after the world mark of 4:03.6, which he missed by only one-tenth of a second last month.

Four other Olympic gold medal winners and five other defending champions will perform in the meet, which is the first of the Chicago Stadium back to its 1937 birthplace. Delany has won the Olympic 1,500 meter event.

Delany, seeking his 23rd consecutive indoor victory at the distance, defends the Banker's Mile title he won last year in 4:03.8.

The world record of 4:03.6 was set by Denmark's Gunnar Nielsen in New York in 1955. Delany was clocked in 4:03.7 in the National AAU Championships in New York last month.

It probably is tonight, or never this year, for Delany to set a new world indoor mile record. He makes his final indoor appearance in Cleveland next week, and there he must travel 12 laps to the mile. Tonight, Delany needs to circle the spruce boards only 11 times, the same number he did in his near record-matching effort last month.

Mays Connects for First Hit, Triple

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Star center fielder Willie Mays and heralded rookie Willie Kirkland of the San Francisco Giants both connected for their first hits of the major league exhibition campaign yesterday.

Mays hit a triple in three trips to the plate and Kirkland belted a sharp single. He also was on base on an error and a walk.

High School Wilkinson

GREENWOOD, S. C. (AP)—Pinky Babb, coach of the Greenwood High School football team the last 15 years, has one of the nation's best records. His teams have won 126 games, lost 29 and tied 19. He's had three unbeaten teams and only one losing season over that span. One of his prize pupils, Harvey White, was the star quarterback of the 1957 Clemson College team as a sophomore.

Baseball Leagues Combine To Form Rondout Association

A new baseball organization, the Rondout Valley Athletic Association, was formed at a combined meeting of the Rondout Valley Little League and Babe Ruth League recently.

The association was organized to combine the fund drives for both of the small fry baseball circuits in the Rondout Valley sector.

Five representatives from each league will be on the governing board.

Rondout Valley LL elected Mildred Cummins, Frank Lynch, Bud Snyder, Chet Miller and William Curran representatives to the RVAA.

The RVLL also named the following managers: Lester Judd, Tigers; Floyd Diedolf, Cubs; Dave Franzblau, Red Sox; and Frank Pavlick, Braves. Next meeting was scheduled for March 27 at the Kripplebush fire hall.

Moose Lodge Sweeps Shuffleboard Honors

Moose Lodge No. 970 of Kingston completed a sweep of both halves of the Inter-Fraternal Shuffleboard League last night, finishing the half seven games ahead of Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The Antlers suffered a slight setback, 4-3, at the hands of Elks Lodge, but VFW was only able to edge Kingston Power Boat Association by the same margin.

St. Mary's trounced the Knights of Columbus, 7 to 0, thereby setting up the possibility of a second-place tie if one postponed game is awarded to St. Mary's. The Moose cinched the pennant with a record of 92 wins and 48 losses.

Kingston Power Boat Association will be host to the annual banquet on April 12 at the Moose Lodge.

Fordham Tanker Wins 34th Race

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Drury Gallagher of Fordham last night captured his 34th straight race of the season in the 1500 meter free style event of the Eastern Inter-collegiate Swimming League.

The flashing, splashing sophomore set a blistering pace throughout the 65 lap race over the 25 yard course in the Naval Academy pool.

His winning time was 19:35.5, but it was nearly two minutes slower than the meet record for these annual invitation championships.

Some 15 other individual titles are to be decided in the meet continuing through tomorrow, with Yale favored in most events.

Oakley fired 432, Edith Cherny 490, Jean Thompson 466, Charlotte Gray 407, Kay Foertsch 421, Mae Gilmartin 409, Wilma Stephens 406, Midge Burdger 421, Dolores Joyce 404, Marge Neer 445, Doris Meyer 407, Dolores Bailey 444; team results: Channel Master 1, Cherny's Rest 2; Snyder's Chicks 2, Gilmartin's Lunch 1; Century Cement 0, Herdman's Sport Shop 3.

Kingston players will leave the YMCA at 8 o'clock.

RPI May Be Site Of NCAA Hockey Tournery in '59

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in Troy, N. Y., has been recommended by American hockey coaches as the site of the 1959 NCAA Hockey Tournament.

The recommendation, which is subject to routine NCAA approval, was made yesterday at the convention luncheon of the American Hockey Coaches Assn.

RPI had entered the only bid for the tournament, although Minnesota, this year's host, had offered to repeat if necessary. The event will be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday, the second week in March.

In other action, the coaches named Harry Cleverly of Boston as coach of the Year and recommended a playoff plan for selection of the East's two representatives in next year's tournament.

Lions and Rotary Win Biddy Cage Thrillers

Yvon Durelle, Anthony in Key Fight Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—With a possible title fight hanging in the balance, Canada's brawny Yvon Durelle and New York's lean Tony Anthony clash tonight in a return battle of light heavyweight contenders.

Late backing for the British Empire 175-pound champion has dropped the odds from the 7-5 favoring Anthony all week to even money. They will meet over the 10-round route at Madison Square Garden. The bout will be broadcast and telecast (NBC, 10 p. m.).

Durelle, an awkward but strong mauler, is aiming to clinch a title shot with world light heavyweight champion Archie Moore. Anthony, a 23-year old stylist, wants a second crack at old Archie.

Title Bout Promised
(The Moncton, N. B., Times said Durelle had been guaranteed a title fight with Moore if he defeated Anthony. The paper quoted Chris Shaban, Durelle's manager, as saying he was given the guarantee yesterday after a conference in New York with promoter Jim Norris.)

The champ flattened the hard-hitting, fragile-jawed Anthony in the seventh round six months ago. Tony took on Durelle, then lightly regarded, as a warmup for the Moore match and was lucky to escape with a draw nine months ago.

Ranked Second
Since that first meeting in Detroit, Durelle has come up in the world. He is now ranked as the No. 2 contender while Anthony is ranked third. Yvon has an unbeaten streak of 12, including the draw with Anthony and eight knockouts.

A pro ten years, the 28-year-old Durelle has posted a 72-18-2 won-lost-draw record. Tony, 23, has a 30-5-1 record.

COMING! March 25-29

Two of the tightest games of the season in the Biddy League took place last night in the Municipal Auditorium where the Rotary edged Kiwanis 32 to 31 and the Lions Club nipped Jaycees 31 to 29.

Lonnie McAndrew, who made the state All-Star team during the recent state tournament in Saugerties, paced the Lions with 19 points to its close win over the Jaycees. The Lions had the lead for three periods, but nearly dropped it in the final six minutes on a 13-point surge by the losers. Larry Marcus had 12 for the opposing team.

Ronnie Thomas and Chuck Davide, who performed with Kingston in the state classic, hooked up in a real scoring duel in the other encounter. Thomas dunked 17 and Davide 16 as the Rotarians won the thriller.

Rotary bounced to a 12-6 lead and increased it 21 to 10 at half-time. In the final two periods, the Kiwanians outscored their opponents and nearly overtook them.

Pros Name Russell NBA's Most Valuable

BY LEAPS AND REBOUNDS

The President's Trophy for highest achievement in professional basketball, awarded by NEA Service as selected by the players, goes to the center of the champion Boston Celtics.

Boston Star Tops Schayes in Balloting

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
NEA Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (NEA)—Bill Russell needed only one full season in the pros to convince the National Basketball Association that he's the premier player in the game today.

In a three-way vote race with old pro Dolph Schayes of Syracuse and high-scoring George Yardley of Detroit, the snake-armed center of the Boston Celtics was named winner of the 1958 President's Cup, awarded by NEA Service to the outstanding player of the NBA.

The verdict was handed down by an exacting jury, the 80 players of the eight teams in the league, who were restrained from voting for their own teammates. With a tally based on five points for first, three for second place and one for third, Russell rolled up a total of 228 points, 30 more than runnerup Schayes. Yardley was third with 120. The popularity of Russell was revealed by his name on 91 per cent of the eligible ballots.

Russell's emergence as the No. 1 man in basketball, and that takes in all levels, should wipe out all the scoffers who ridiculed his defensive feats on a national collegiate champion San Francisco team two years ago. The skinny 6-10 Californian wasn't supposed to get away with that stuff against the pros, who had guys his own size, and there was loud skepticism of his ability to score enough to maintain a place in the lineup.

The answer is that Bill has brought back emphasis to defense in an era where scores rocket regularly over the 100 mark. Not only does he put an effective clamp on the big men of the league, but the mental hazard created by his talon-like interceptions in the area of the basket squashes the shooting effectiveness of the other four opponents on the floor, too.

For years, the Celtics of Bob Cousy and Bill Sharman have been a flashy scoring brigade, but they lacked the big man to clear the boards and set up their fast break. When Russell joined them after the Olympic Games in Melbourne last winter he provided the final link that has them rated among the finest basketball teams of all time. This season already he has set a new rebounding record, nabbing more than 2 cars a game.

As a scorer, he's still nowhere near Yardley or Schayes or Bob Pettit of St. Louis, but on dunks and taps alone he can contribute 16 points a game. He's not a selfish or hungry player, and a check of team statistics shows that he's second only to Cousy in vital assists. Because he takes only the short shots that come natural to him, his field goal accuracy percentage is consistently among the best in the league. But to keep the giants from playing him too close, he has developed dangerous hook shots with either hand.

Bill is smart enough to know he can't get by on size alone and so has made a determined effort to learn the league, the little quirks that distinguish the great from the good player and to utilize the reflexes nature gave him. At the age of 23, he's only approaching his peak physical strength. If he's the best now, what'll he be like to handle in a couple of years?

Russell will receive the trophy emblematic of the award at next season's league all-star game. Previous winners of the President's Cup have been Pettit in 1956 and Cousy in 1957.

Babe Ruth Loop Sets '58 Plans

Babe Ruth League officials discussed territorial rights, playing plans for 1958 and the future at last night's meeting.

The league voted to play its 1958 schedule at Dietz Stadium, but appointed a committee to discuss with the Common Council the possibility of reclaiming Loughran Park for future use.

The committee includes George McCardle, chairman; James Gilpatrick, past president; Leon Studt, president, and Frank Reis.

Territorial rights for the league were defined by state commissioner Dick Case and will include for all future purposes the City of Kingston and the towns of Hurley, Woodstock, Ulster and Esopus.

Kingston YMCA Hosts Newburgh In N.A.P. Finals

The Kingston YMCA will host Newburgh Saturday for the Mid-Hudson National Achievement program finals.

The program is designed as part of the nationals effort for physical and mental development. Contestants compete in five events on the basis of age, weight and height. The events include standing broad jump, potato race, softball throw, basketball shooting and pull up test. Score is determined by points.

Dick Case, program director, asks that boys report to the Y at 12 noon. Members are required to bring a lunch.

36 Records Broken in NBA Loop

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Basketball Assn., which closed its regular season Wednesday, reported today 36 records were broken—14 more than during the 1955-56 season which was the previous high for revising the books.

George Yardley of Detroit and Boston's Bill Russell grabbed the scoring and rebound titles, creating most of the new individual records. Clyde Lovellette of Cincinnati collected 679 field goals, one more than George Mikan's 1950-51 standard with Minneapolis, in 68 games.

In scoring 2,001 points, an average of 27.8 for 72 games, Yardley cracked Mikan's mark of 1,932 also set in 1950-51. Yardley also attempted 808 free throws, breaking the 1952-53 record of 794 set by Philadelphia's Neil Johnston. The Detroit star converted 655 free throws to crack the record of 625 set by Dolph Schayes of Syracuse in 1956-57.

Russell, in smashing every rebound record for season and game, was far ahead of the 1956-57 marks set by Maurice Stokes, with Rochester before the franchise moved to Cincinnati this season. Russell had 1,564 rebounds to 1,256 for Stokes, and his new mark of 22.7 per game compared with Stokes' old record of 17.4.

New York, which didn't even make the playoffs, set seven offensive records. The Knicks scored 8,068 points, breaking Boston's 1955-56 mark of 7,632. League scoring reached an all-time average of 106.6 points per game. The field-goal percentage for the league's eagle-eyed shooters was .383 in 288 contests, compared with .380 per cent for the same number of games during 1956-57 for an average of 99.6.

Cars to Dogs

ELKHART LAKE, Wis. (AP)—Road America, the famed race course where sports cars roar during the summer, echoes with a different sound in winter—the barking of sled dogs and shrill cries of runners. The course was used recently by the Midwest Sled Dog Club for a test run, a possible prelude to a championship sled dog meet next winter.

'Big Willie' Knapp, Ex-Jockey, To Give Away Two-Year Old

Willie Knapp, one of racing's all-time great jockeys, had many thrills in his 18 years in the irons. He rode Upset that memorable afternoon in 1919 when Man O'War was beaten at Saratoga Springs for the only defeat of his career.

That event is vivid in "Big Willie's" long list of racing thrills. So is his victory with Exterminator in the 1918 Kentucky Derby.

Now Willie is trying to give away a Kentucky Club colt, a grandson of John P. Grier, one of the best two and three year olds in Man O'War's day and which he frequently rode.

Son of Count Fleet
The son of the famous Count Fleet will be given to anyone who submits a name selected by a panel of judges. The Kentucky Club contest will close April 7. All entries must be postmarked not later than midnight of that date. Entries should be sent to Kentucky Club Derby Day Contest, Box 30, Mt. Vernon.

$1,000 Purse
The winner of the contest will receive two seats to the Kentucky Derby and a $1,000 purse. Expenses will be absorbed by Kentucky Club for the horse's board and expenses until July. After that the winner may either continue to race him or sell him.

Man O'War's Defeat

One of the stories most frequently told by "Big Willie" concerns the Upset triumph. "Man O'War was beaten because of poor racing luck and the criticism later leveled at Jockey Johnny Loftus was unjustified. To begin with, we had a substitute starter that day and Man O'War broke poorly," declared Knapp.

"Golden Broom, a speed horse, got out in front and I had Upset, who raced in the colors of Harry Payne Whitney, right on top of him. Golden Broom was a run-out horse, but I kept him on the rail. Meanwhile, Man O'War recovered quickly from the bad start and was coming along strongly. But my lead was too great and when I took Upset to the front at the 16th pole, I still had enough to stave off Big Red's rally at the end."

Good Trainer

Willie, a successful trainer, considers Exterminator the best horse he ever rode. He trained "Old Bones" following his retirement in 1919 and saddled him to victories in the Saratoga Cup, The Toronto Cup and Pimlico Cup.

He began his riding career at the age of 13 when he weighed only 78 pounds. He works for the Greater New York Racing Assn. as a member of George Cassidy's starting crew. He is

Loss of Jerry Toppazzini to Hamper Bruins

BOSTON (AP)—Boston's playoff stock has tumbled a little with the loss of Jerry Toppazzini, while Montreal has retained the services of goalie Jacques Plante by the narrowest of margins.

Both players were injured last night as the Bruins defeated the Canadiens 7-3 in the only National Hockey League action and edged ahead of Detroit into third place.

The Bruins are a cinch to make the Stanley Cup playoffs, but their chances once they reach the post-season competition have fallen off.

Winger Toppazzini, hustling penalty killer and 24-goal scorer for the team, will not play again this year because of an injury to his right eye in the first period when he ran into a stick. Plante was injured in the middle period when his head hit the crossbar of the goal during some rough action.

Plante suffered a concussion but is expected to be ready for action this weekend.

chief flag man for the meeting at all New York tracks.

"Big Willie" was the official timer when Dedicate broke a 37-year-old record for nine furlongs in the Whitney Stakes last summer at Saratoga, a mark he set on Sun Briar.

The Detroit Tigers boast more individual batting champions than any other major league baseball team. Tiger hitters have led the American League 20 times.

JOHN WETTERAU

JOYCE VAN DE BOGART

John Wetterau of Woodstock has been commended by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation for his outstanding performance on a nationwide aptitude test, Paul T. Runge, guidance Director of the Ontario Central School, announced today.

Runge also announced that Joyce VanDeBogart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David VanDeBogart of Wittenberg, has been accepted for admission at the State University Agricultural and Technical Institute at Delhi where she plans to enter the Food Management program.

Miss VanDeBogart has been an active member of the extra-curricular program at Ontario being a member of the Photography, Club, Outing Club, Leaders' Club and yearbook staff.

To Receive Letter

John Wetterau will be sent a letter of recommendation by National Merit Scholarship Corporation for use in applying to colleges. John M. Stalnaker, president of NMSC, believes that the 7500 students who received the commendation rank in the top one or two per cent in ability in the senior classes of their respective states.

This year over 260,000 outstanding seniors from more than 14,000 high schools entered the competition which began with a nationwide screening examination in October, 1957. About 7200 students, who have already been named, are now in the finals of the current competition.

"While the students receiving this commendation did not quite reach the finals of the 1957-58 Merit Scholarship competition, each of them has demonstrated highly superior ability and outstanding promise to benefit from college training," declared Mr. Stalnaker.

"I hope that every one of them will make a special effort to obtain the best college education possible. Our country needs more able people like these."

The annual National Merit Scholarship competition offers the largest system of privately financed scholarships in the United States. The Merit Scholarship Program is open to all high school seniors in the United States and its possessions.

Loeffler Voted YMCA Cadet of The Month Award

Robert Loeffler, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Loeffler, 109 S. Manor Avenue, has been named the cadet of the month at the Kingston YMCA, after a run-off.

Loeffler and Joseph Shuler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Shuler of 19 Belvedere Street, were tied for first place with 56 seconds each.

The winner is a student at the New York State School for the Deaf at White Plains. He attends the "Y" every Saturday and serves

Pawnbroker Probe Nets $400,000 From Unredeemed Items

ALBANY—An intensive inquiry into the abandoned property held by the pawnbrokers has netted the state some $400,000 to date, it was revealed in a joint announcement by State Comptroller Arthur Levitt and Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz.

The funds recovered represent surplus moneys not reported to the state which were received by pawnbrokers from the sale of unredeemed articles. Under the Abandoned Property Law, such pledges are required to be sold at public auction and the moneys received, less dealer costs and interest, are due the State of New York to be held in trust by the comptroller.

According to Levitt the inquiry, conducted jointly with the attorney general, is still going on and an estimated $200,000 in additional funds will be recovered.

Lefkowitz and Levitt issued their statement in connection with their introduction in the State Legislature of a bi-partisan measure to place pawnbrokers under closer state control. Heretofore pawnbrokers operated under local laws and ordinances which differed from city to city.

Christmas trees made a good farm crop on very poor land.

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — (NEA) — It was a March night in 1955, a chilly night, and the Dodgers were playing the White Sox in an exhibition game at Miami Stadium. At the end of the first inning, Walter Alston sent Karl Spooner to the bullpen and started him on the dismal, pain-racked road he now travels.

Three years ago, Karl was a 21-game winner for Fort Worth, a fire-throwing left-hander who had struck out 224 Texas League batters and then whiffed 27 Giants and Dodgers in his first two appearances as a major leaguer and Brooklyn chorused, "We shoulda had Spooner sooner."

He was a $450,000 piece of pitcher, but this winter the Cardinals' Houston farm team drafted a sore-armed, dispirited Karl for $4,500 from Macon of the Sally League. And it all goes back to this night at Miami Stadium in 1955.

"Johnny Podres started against the White Sox and I was to pitch the three middle innings," Spooner recalls.

It breaks your heart to hear him recount it as he sits in the Cardinal dressing room waiting for Dr. Bob Bauman to rub his left shoulder.

"Podres was racked up for six runs in the first inning and at the end of the second told Walter Alston he had enough. Alston told me to go to the bullpen, but the Dodgers went out one-two-three and I got in no more than 15 warm-up pitches, if that many. I got rid of the first hitter, but somebody beat out a swinging hit down the third base line and then I walked a man."

"I decided to bear down a little and the batter hit into a double play. I had no trouble in the fourth inning and Ed Roebuck took over in the fifth."

"JUST BEFORE LEAVING the park my arm and shoulder started to throb. I asked Harold Wendler, the trainer, to rub some oil to keep the arm warm. I told him about the throbbing. He said I had to expect it the first time out. But I felt at the time that this wasn't good. I never had arm trouble before."

"I couldn't throw at all for three weeks and it was July before I could throw hard again, but with four or five days rest, I did fairly well."

"But I couldn't pitch a lick in 1956 and it hurt every time I threw a ball for Macon last summer. The only reason I got anybody out was that I could throw the ball where I wanted it."

Last November, Spooner desperately turned to an operation in which Dr. Herbert Fett, Sr., in Brooklyn, removed scar tissue and adhesions from the tendon at the point of his shoulder.

"I'm encouraged now," Spooner says. "I've already thrown harder than I have since the 1955 World Series. There's a little pain occasionally, but I guess you have to expect that even in a good arm."

Spooner believes he is better and, as he tells you, he just has to be.

"I'VE GOT TO MAKE IT," he says. "What else can I do? All I know is baseball. I've got two little daughters. My wife, Carol, has been wonderful, but I've never made much money out of baseball. The most I ever got was $9,000 after my one good year."

Trouble always has plagued this fine boy. An orphan, he worked on farms to get through high school at Oriskany Falls, N. Y., outside of Utica. He was born with flat feet which handicapped him in running at the start of his career. A torn cartilage had to be taken from his knee in the fall of 1954.

And now everybody quietly tells you that it will be an outright miracle if he ever regains the loose-limbed, explosive throwing form that amazed everybody when he first came around.

"I haven't cut loose yet," Spooner says. "But I'll make it. I've got to."

He is the saddest part of this spring.

Chicago Cubs Boost Staff To 26 Scouts

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Chicago Cubs Vice President John Holland says the Bruins have stepped up their search for talent and now have a full time staff of 26 scouts seeking promising material.

Holland said that last year the Cubs signed 90 new ball players compared with an average of 40 or 45 in previous seasons.

He said that the Cubs called in 25 of their best minor leaguers for special spring instructions with the hope that this might hasten advancement to the regular roster.

"It really has paid off," Holland said. "We're sure we have some real comers. Though it's an expensive practice, we hope to bring more of the youngsters out here next spring."

Ave Approval Likely

ALBANY (AP)—All political signposts indicated today that Gov. Harriman would sign the Republican unemployment insurance bill that sailed unopposed through the Legislature yesterday.

The clearest sign came from the Democratic minorities who, after voting solidly against three previous measures, joined hands with the GOP to pass the new compromise version.

It will raise top weekly benefits from $36 to $45, retroactive to last July 1.

Republicans controlling the Legislature were confident that Harriman would not gamble a fourth veto in this gubernatorial election year. He will be up for a second term in November.

Shah Divorces Queen Over Heir

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—The Shah of Iran today announced his divorce from beautiful young Queen Soraya because she failed to give him a son and heir to his throne.

The divorce followed weeks of negotiations with the childless, 26-year-old Queen, deliberations within the royal council and long hours of soul-searching by Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi.

Soraya now is in West Germany with her father, the Iranian ambassador there.

The 38-year-old monarch and his green-eyed wife had been a devoted, almost inseparable couple, but the Shah, as a court communiqué put it, "ignored his personal feelings for the sake of the nation's high-level interests."

The communiqué said the royal advisers had urged that the heir to the Iranian throne be a son of the Shah, rather than a brother as had been suggested, because of the country's great interest and to "avoid possible future unrest."

The ex-Queen remained in seclusion in the Iranian Embassy in Cologne with her parents and her brother. But in a statement distributed by the West German press office she said she had agreed to the divorce "in the interests of the future of the nation and for the welfare of the people."
